Money To Finance Fight Is Pledged, Says Banker

BATTLE DATE SWITCH IS POSSIBLE AS PLANS TIGHTEN

Conference Late Today to Decide If July 4 or July 14 or 21 Best

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 29.—"The money necessary to insure the staging of the Dempsey-Gibbons fracas in Shelby has been pledged."

That statement was made at noon today by George Stanton, banker, of Great Falls.

"At 3 o'clock this afternoon," said Stanton, "I expect to make a rather important announcement to the newspapers."

"Does this mean that you have secured the money?" he was asked.

"It means," replied Stanton, "that all the worry which was ours over getting the money is ended. We are now in position where I can say positively that the money to go on with the fight and to meet the Dempsey obligation has been pledged."

"But we do not know, and will not know until we have had a conference at 2 p. m. whether we will stand pat on July 4 as the fight date or ask that it be moved along to July 14."

Stanton conferred during the morning with Jim Johnson, mayor of Shelby; Loy L. Moulumb, one of the original promoters and J. W. Sheer, attorney for the promoters. During the course of these conversations the boys used the telephone almost to a point of wearing them out and their calls connected them with men in Great Falls and Shelby, who are ranked among the "monied interests."

It was intimated afterward that Stanton, as spokesman for the promoters and as the new pilot of the almost wrecked Dempsey-Gibbons fight was trying to get ten men to advance $10,000 each. That he was successful seemed evident by the smile on Stanton's face when all the missionary work was concluded.

Some Favor Shift
"Some persons insist that the best plan we can adopt would be to go ahead with the fight on the original date," said Stanton. "And others, just as conversant with affairs of pugilism, are of the opinion that we should shift to Saturday, July 14, or Saturday, July 21. That's a matter which we will decide in conference this afternoon."

"Personally, I think that if the fight were held on July 4, it would mean a certain and absolute loss of a small fortune for the promoters, whereas, if it were moved to a later date and a new campaign in the sale of tickets could be conducted, there is a chance that the promoters can come close to breaking even."

Rail Head May Aid
ST. PAUL, Minn., June 29.—Louis W. Hill, son of the late James Hill, multi-millionaire railroad man, could not be reached this afternoon to confirm or deny reports from Shelby, Mont., that he had telegraphed promoters there that he was planning to go to Shelby with sufficient securities to cover the next $100,000 necessary to be raised before the Dempsey-Gibbons fight will be staged.

In absence of confirmation from Mr. Hill, his friends were inclined to doubt the authenticity of the telegram reported to have been dispatched, and were inclined to believe that the latest development was a hoax.

GIRL ASKS $15,000
LOS ANGELES, June 29.—Assaulting her back is scarred from burns and her body permanently crippled, Fina Sagorsky of Portland, Ore., filed suit today in federal district court, demanding $15,000 damages from a motorist company. In the bill of complaint, the girl declares she was traveling from Portland to Los Angeles, June 22, 1922, in a motor bus, when the machine overturned on her, pinning her beneath it, while it took fire.

Society Must Be Protected, Says Gov. Richardson

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., June 29.—Mauro Parisi, convicted of the murder of Felix Paladino on the streets of Fresno last May, paid with his life on the gallows here today. The trap was sprung at 10:10 and he was pronounced dead eleven minutes later. The hanging was without incident, officials said.

SACRAMENTO, June 29.—Declaring that "Society must be protected from such acts of lawlessness," Governor Richardson, in a statement today, explained his refusal to exercise executive clemency in the case of Mauro Parisi, scheduled to die on the gallows at San Quentin today.

The governor reviewed the circumstances of the crime against Parisi of having shot and beaten to death Felix Paladino, Fresno workman, adding:

"The murderer, by his crime, made one widow and left four small children without a father's support. Society must be protected from such acts of lawlessness. Wives and children, who are always the chief sufferers from crime, must be safeguarded. The execution of Parisi will be a warning to men of his type that they cannot run amuck in California, murdering peaceful citizens and wounding bystanders in crowded streets without paying the penalty imposed by law."

HIGH SCHOOL BUDGET TO BE DRAWN

Estimate It Will Cost Near $318,500 to Operate Plant Coming Year

The cost of operating the local high school plant next term will be about $318,500, according to the estimate submitted by Business Manager Irving H. Oliver last night to the school board of trustees. He was authorized to prepare the annual budget and to submit it to Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools.

Architect John C. Austin of Pasadena attended the session and reported satisfactory progress in the construction of the new plant. Four additional teachers were appointed for next term. Miss Eleanor Plaw, who has been teaching at Mt. Diablo Union high school, Concord, was given a place in the art department. She is a graduate of the California School of Fine Arts at San Francisco. Miss Mary Beth Abbott, head of the art department, has been given six months' leave of absence in order to extend her trip abroad.

Other Appointments
Miss Beulah Wood, instructor in the California Polytechnic school at San Luis Obispo, was appointed to teach architectural and mechanical drawing. During the war she had experience in the draughting department of Mare Island Navy Yard.

H. H. Wiebe of 438 Burchett street, who has been connected with the Security Trust & Savings bank for several years, was appointed to teach history and civics. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska. Miss Ida A. Wilshire, who has been teaching at San Bernardino High school, was appointed as instructor in the physical education department. She is a graduate of Mills college. Miss Florence Knight, member of the department has been granted a leave of absence next term in order to attend Columbus university.

Assailants of Girl Captured in Fight

HAMMOND, Ind., June 29.—Two bandits who kidnaped and attacked Miss Genevieve Sprague of South Holland, Ill., after her escort had been taken out of his automobile and left bound by the roadside, were captured today in a marsh between here and South Chicago, after a pitched battle with police, in which a spent bullet struck and slightly wounded the girl. Frank Kelly, 25, New York, and Jas. Carr, 21, Muncie, Ind. Miss Sprague's condition is hysterical, but not serious.

W. B. Kirk, Aboard Craft Bound For Europe, Writes About His Experiences

AFTER visits about Washington, D. C., Glendalians are to journey on today with W. B. Kirk and family to New York, where they will board a great trans-Atlantic liner for the trip overseas. Readers of The Glendale Evening News are finding real recreation in following the journeys of the Kirks as recorded in the accounts written by Mr. Kirk exclusively for The News. Today Mr. Kirk tells further of their stay in Washington and also sketches their trip on to New York, where they take the boat. He writes:

"Before leaving Washington we attended service at the Vermont Avenue Christian church and heard a great sermon on 'Christian Unity' by Peter Ainslie of Baltimore, one of the outstanding ministers of 'our' church in all the world. It was surely such men as he who are putting the heaven into the meal, which will finally unite all who believe in Jesus Christ into one great body."

"In this connection I want to preach you a little sermon that is not original, as you will see, but is the record of a life, and which is inscribed on the marble shaft, which is in a little inclosure a few feet from where the 'Great Washington' lies: 'Judge Washington was the son of John Augustus Washington and the nephew of General George Washington, who appointed him one of his executors and bequeathed him Mt. Vernon. As judge he was wise and just, a man of truth, hating covetousness. Firm in every honorable purpose and pursuit, yet gentle, humane and condescending. A sincere Christian, doing in all the things the will of his master and resting his hope of eternal happiness alone on the righteousness of Jesus Christ.'

"Think it over. 'Could a man's ambition in life be higher and grander than was attained in the life of this man? Read that epitaph again, carefully, then think it over. 'We were unable to stop in Baltimore, although our friend, W. J. Glendelin, is there by this time and I told him we would 'call him up.'"

"The weather continues hot and our trip to Philadelphia was a roaster. We were landed at West Philadelphia, because of the big fire a week ago, which gutted the train sheds of the Broad street station. The steel framework, however, is undamaged and the job of repair goes rapidly forward. Morning and evening trains leave (Continued on page 8)

COUNCIL GETS PETITION ON S. P. DEPOT
About 1000 Names Appear On Plea in Favor of Site At Eulalia Street

The Southern Pacific railroad's new depot, which is still unbuilt, will be built near the end of Eulalia street if a petition presented last night has any effect upon the City Council. Councilman Sam Davis immediately referred the petition to the committee of the whole. There was no discussion.

The petition, which contains about 1000 signatures, was officially presented by Harry Hague of 1227 South Central avenue in behalf of the Glendale Depot association.

"We, the undersigned citizens and taxpayers of Glendale," it states, "respectfully represent that:

"First, we are opposed to the purchase of lots by the city for the opening of Cerritos avenue between Gardena avenue and the southern grounds because it is against public policy to spend city funds for a special purpose unless there is an unquestioned general need. There is no such need in this case. This opening would entail a direct consequence thereof of the straightening, widening and improving of other streets at a cost many times the initial outlay of $8500 for the lots. Most of this work would be unnecessary for the local wants of the residents on these streets, hence a liberal portion of its cost would fall upon the taxpayers as a whole."

"Second, the proposed depot is intended to serve the entire territory (Continued on page 5)

POINCARE AIDED IN RUHR PROJECT
French Senate Votes Total of 307,000,000 Francs Behalf Campaign

PARIS, June 29.—The French senate this afternoon, at the request of Premier Poincare, voted 307,000,000 francs for the conduct of the Ruhr campaign. The vote was unanimous.

The premier had given assurances that Germany would be "forced to repay with the Ruhr costs getting priority."

John A. Britton Dead After Long Illness

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—John A. Britton, vice president and general manager of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, died early today at the Wakefield sanitarium as a result of an attack of acute indigestion. He was 68 years old and had been in the service for forty-eight years and was one of the outstanding figures in the tremendous hydro-electric development in northern California in recent years. He had been in ill health for some time.

FLYERS ESCAPE DEATH AS PLANE OVERTURNS

City Council Listens to Arguments, Paves Way For Improvement

THE public hearing upon the opening and widening of Park avenue was discussed for about an hour last night and finally postponed until next Thursday night by the City Council.

Councilman Sam Davis made the motion requesting this action. He suggested that Assistant City Engineer V. B. Stone should call upon property owners west of Central avenue and inform them that they would not have to pay for the opening of the street east of Glendale avenue and ascertain if they were still opposed to the proceedings.

Objections to the widening of Park avenue from Central avenue to the Southern Pacific, on the grounds that it would eliminate beautiful palms and shade trees and, in the opinion, is unnecessary at the present time, were voiced by William Huber of 344 West Park avenue, Mrs. Adelaide Imier of 338 West Park avenue, and Mrs. Mary A. Ayers of 223 East Palmer avenue, who called attention to the fact that property donated by her family forty years ago had helped both to cut through Park avenue and to widen Central avenue.

Predicts Importance
Park avenue is destined to become one of the most important streets of Glendale, according to C. J. Griffin of 420 West Park avenue. He stated that he had seen blue-prints in the office of the county planning commission showing bridges over the Los Angeles river at both Colorado street and Park avenue. He expressed his opinion that sooner or later a bridge would be placed at the foot of Park avenue. He also reminded those present that the opening of the east end of Park avenue and the proposed improvement of Sycamore Canyon road would provide a desirable through route to Pasadena.

"There is one thing to look at—you are not to settle this question just for today!" exclaimed Rev. (Continued on page 5)

Optimistic Message From Harding To Business Men Says Clear Horizon Ahead

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

BUTTE, Mont., June 29.—President Harding brought into the northwest today an optimistic and militant message to American business. To a great crowd of thousands that packed closely around the rear platform of his train here he declared the miracle wrought by America's mobilization for war had found its counterpart in the mobilization of business during the menacing depression of two years ago and, going further, he asserted American business now stands only in the doorway of a new era.

"No nation in the world," said the president, "looks out upon so clear a horizon today."

The president's address was devoted entirely to a survey of world business conditions and a militant defense of the business record of the administration and the manner in which it led the country through the great economic depression that followed the war.

Real Common Sense
Disavowing partisanship in thus presenting the administration's policies, the president attributed the recovery to the "plain, old fashioned common sense" of the American business man, aided by an administration at Washington that indulged in no fads and fancies of government paternalism. He compared conditions in the United States to those existing in Europe and then said:

"If we are accused of getting nowhere in particular we may reply at any rate we have been able to stay right here, that we regard it as a good place to stay and that day by day we are getting better and better."

More excitement than we have had, but a good many people in this world would be glad to exchange their excitement for a modest share in our American accumulation of simple contentment, and dinner table necessities."

Those who believe the business and economic situation in America is bad were invited by Mr. Harding to look upon conditions in other countries. Many of them, he pointed out, indulged in

SHIP CRASHES TO GROUND ENDING 24 HOUR TRIP

Make Eleven Contacts in Mid-Air While Seeking To Set Record

SAN DIEGO, June 29.—Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant John B. Richter narrowly escaped death early today when, in a forced landing, their big De Havilland "air marathon" plane turned completely over at Rockwell field. The machine was badly damaged but the two intrepid aviators who had then been in the air for almost twenty-four hours, crawled out virtually uninjured.

A damaged crank shaft caused the forced landing and abandonment of the attempt to fly 100 hours without pause. A complete examination today will be made to reveal just what happened. The landing was made at 4:40 o'clock, just six minutes short of twenty-four hours after the plane had taken off yesterday in its record making attempt.

It was the second time that accident had forced a landing. On the first attempt a faulty generator forced a landing after six hours' flight.

The flyers went up yesterday morning at 4:46 a. m., and yesterday throughout the day received food, fuel and oil supplies in mid-air from a feeder ship piloted by Lieutenants Hines and Seifert.

One of these attempts nearly resulted fatally when Lieutenant Richter was drenched with gasoline during a transfer and considerable damage to the engine was done. Fortunately it did not touch the heated engine or exhaust.

Eleven contacts were made between the "feeder" plane and the record flyer and preparations were under way to again refuel the plane when the forced landing was made.

It was anticipated today that the attempt will be resumed at an early date. The tail of the big De Havilland was broken off in the crash and it was otherwise damaged, but it can be repaired, it was said.

Efforts Being Made To Have Harding Visit Here

Strenuous efforts are being made to bring President Warren G. Harding to Glendale for one hour during his visit to Southern California, it is announced by Jesse E. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce. This afternoon a telegram signed by Mayor Spencer E. Robinson and the Chamber of Commerce was forwarded to Walter Brown, advance representative of the chief executive's entourage, to make the request tomorrow morning on Mr. Brown's return to Los Angeles from San Diego.

Secretary E. F. Sanders of the Chamber yesterday interviewed Senator Samuel Shortridge on the possibilities of the president's visit, and today he learned that only one opportunity exists on the Los Angeles scheduled program. That is to entertain the Harding party on the evening of the day they visit Catalina island and return him to his train bound for San Diego two or three hours later.

According to Mr. Sanders, a great deal of praise was given Glendale at the Postal Conference

Home Wedding

A home wedding marked by simplicity and beauty was that of Miss Margaret Kincaid and Ralph Wilsie, Tuesday evening, June 26, 1923 at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Grimes, 580 West Stocker street.

Pink and white were the color chosen and pink hydrangeas and carnations in combination with baby breath carried out this color scheme in the artistic decorations of the home.

Dr. H. I. Rasmus, Jr., of the First Methodist church was the officiant and used the single ring ceremony. The bride and groom were unattended.

A delightful musical program was given preceding the ceremony by Mrs. Floyd Grimes and Mrs. Will Hervey, sisters of the bride, both talented musicians. The bride was charming in a white georgette gown with long tulle veil held by orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses, white sweet peas and maiden hair fern.

Mrs. Wilsie has been a member of the teaching staff at Cerritos school for the past year and with her mother Mrs. May Kincaid has resided with her sister Mrs. Floyd Grimes at 580 West Stocker street. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilsie have been largely identified with the social life of the First Methodist church, being members of the choir of the organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilsie have gone to housekeeping in the bungalow which they recently purchased on West Palm Drive. Later they will enjoy a wedding trip which has been delayed on account of an injury to Mr. Wilsie's foot which makes it necessary for him to use crutches.

A number of guests from out of town witnessed the ceremony. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Wilsie, father and mother of the groom, his brother and sister from San Diego, Mrs. Will Hervey, sister of the bride from Kansas, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace E. Allen, San Diego, Elmer Allen, Imperial, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Allen, Los Angeles, Mrs. Monroe Horner, Miss Myra Belle Vickers and Paul Vickers all of Hollywood.

Glendale guests were Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Goss, Mr. and Mrs. Will A. Goss, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Bryant, Mrs. R. D. Goss, Mrs. Emma Burket, Dean, Hugh and Albert Bryant, Phillip, William and Edith Goss, Mrs. May Kincaid, mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Grimes and sons, Mr. and Mrs. J. LeRoy Grimes, Mrs. Edna Buckels of Kansas, Miss Ruth Mullen of Glendale. After the ceremony an informal reception was held during which a collation of cake and ice cream, in the pink and white of the wedding colors was served.

Supper-Dance

Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Finney entertained with a supper-dance at their home, 1953 Mountain avenue, Glendale, on Monday evening, last, in celebration of their tenth wedding anniversary.

Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Groseclose, Mr. and Mrs. William Bordeaux, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Sam W. Millionaire Tax Dodgers
Picture Folks' Problems
Brightening Business
Everybody Vacationing
By Gil A. Cowan

WHAT our millionaires are doing to Uncle Sam's income tax law is a shame—just as shameful as what the income tax law is doing to industry.

Having just read a summary of taxes paid, the men earning from $2,000 to $3,000 a year are paying 2 per cent of the total while those with an income of more than $100,000 are paying less than 3 per cent of income levy.

Being in the former class, the writer of this column wants to see a change in the system which permits the big boys to transfer their assets into non-taxable securities and diminish business to such an extent that the earning power of the many is lessened.

The Syracuse Herald is quoted as saying, "The law should be amended so that swollen fortunes can be made to pay their just share of the income tax, which in these days of high prices works a real hardship on thousands of men of moderate incomes."

Secretary Mellon believes that millionaires will respond more readily to taxation if super-tax rates be cut. We might go a step further and declare taxable securities and declare non-taxable any capital improvements in industry, business or home building.

From the trend of affairs in Hollywood, as well as the motion picture business at large, it would appear that the American public is going to pay more for film shows. Such is inevitable unless the industry is rescued from its present control.

Both in production, distribution and exhibition the motion picture enterprises are becoming centralized in certain powerful groups who intend to wring the last penny from the public. Only a few independent firms survive the crushing inroads made by organizations which appear to be intent on monopolizing the industry.

Also, another group has entered the field with the idea of buying or building legitimate playhouses in every large city which will show first run releases when regular stage plays are not obtainable. They propose to charge "top prices" for picture productions.

And added to this the moneyed powers behind the throne have become intent on destroying stardom, breaking matinee idols and revolutionizing the screen to such an extent that talent no longer will be necessary. The first move in this direction is the curtailment of production, following the dismissal of many stars.

Any number of film queens are now turning to vaudeville as a last resort while one of the he-vamps is making an advertising tour for some business foreign to photoplays.

The city of Glendale has had an ambitious young man cleaning the boulevard lights on Broadway and Broad boulevards this week, giving them a brilliant effect, no doubt. Yet that is no solution of the scintillant problem before the business men of making this the brightest spot on the map.

From every merchant almost comes the insistent demand for a better system of lighting. Even those responsible for the present facilities admit they are inadequate for the town which has grown from a row of one-story buildings to a city with its three, four and five-floor structures.

The suggestion of Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant production for the public service department, that flood lights could be used more effectively at present than anything else known—that is worthy of the deepest consideration on the part of building owners and merchants alike.

It would seem that almost everyone is planning an extraordinary vacation trip this year. World tours are not at all uncommon for Glendale folks while a little excursion to Shelby, Mont., for the Fourth of July fight likely will be enjoyed by a number of fistiana's followers here.

And in the motorists' itinerary nothing short of Maine is the goal of one party, which indicates that roads aren't what they used to be. Driving to Yellowstone or British Columbia is no feat especially, according to reports we have received, although the writer would advise people to stay away from the desert in the good old summer time.

Black Snake Causes
Panic at University

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 29.—When Martha went to Yale in the brightest days of the merry month of May nearly everyone else left. Martha was curious and invaded beds, peered into bureau drawers and peeked into closets until the university was frantic—except those who knew Martha and made friends with her. Martha was a 6-foot blacksnake of sufficiently frightful appearance to cause divers panics whenever she appeared, even in classrooms, where scholars and instructors alike left her alone.

Twenty-four hours after a student solemnly averred he had carried Martha to the wilds of the city's park on East Rock, a dealer in animals capped the climax by proving he had lent Martha to a student and that she was safely back in her quarters with him.

THE GLENDALE

"The Queen of Sheba," featuring Betty Blythe, shows at the Glendale Theatre today, as one of the series of film revivals being staged by Manager William A. Howe.

This picture, made by the William Fox company some two years ago, enjoyed one of the greatest runs ever accorded a photoplay. It has been called "the film of the decade" and is unquestionably one of the handful of enduring films produced in the past ten years.

The theme, dealing with the famous character of history, Sheba's immortal Queen, has been

Connecticut Quits
Town Meeting Plan

HARTFORD, Conn., June 29.—The old-fashioned town meeting form of government is passing in Connecticut, where it originated, and during the present year the populous towns of Torrington and Milford will become cities. Torrington, in population, ranks ahead of many cities in the state because of its huge manufacturing plants, while Milford, a purely summer resort town, with many miles of shoreline on Long Island Sound, believes its 50,000 additional summer residents would prefer a city government. With the two new cities, Connecticut will have twenty-two with that form of government. Greenwich, home of many wealthy New Yorkers, may become the most populous town in the state, as well as the richest.

French Plan to Award $50,000 Francs In Effort to Arrest Decline

By HARRY R. FLORY
For International News Service
PARIS, June 29.—Fifty thousand francs for seven children. That is the proposition the government is being urged to make to the mothers and fathers of France in a desperate effort to arrest the falling birth rate of the country.

The plan provides for the allotment of approximately ten million francs yearly in two hundred-franc lots to each of the forty-nine departments of the country.

Lottery principles will prevail, just as the same principles are now applied to selling government bonds to unwilling purchasers.

Each mother and father having more than seven children will be entitled to one lottery ticket. At a fixed time each year in the chief city in each department of France four tickets will be drawn from a hat. The lucky holders each will be entitled to receive 50,000 francs from the department, more than $3000 at the present rate of exchange.

After once winning the lottery the same family will not be entitled again to participate, or receive another lottery ticket until two more children have been added to the already large brood.

Exact details have not yet been definitely decided upon. The minimum number of children necessary for participation in the lottery may be reduced to six, or five. The numbers of awards per department each year may be increased and the amount decreased, or families having once won the lottery may be forbidden absolutely to compete again.

Critics of the proposition point out that in actual operation it may work more hardship than it does good.

"It will lead to virtual enrichment of a few and the impoverishment of thousands, who will go about the business of raising children when they are unable to provide for them, with the sole idea of winning the lottery," a member of the Chamber of Deputies told International News Service. "It would be better to work out a mother's pension and distribute the money equally to all those who are in need."

LA CRESCENTA

SOCIETY RALLIES TO CUDDLE DOON

Garden Party at Thomas Home Season's Outstanding Success

California's glorious sun outshone itself yesterday, for the garden party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas. Beautiful women in stunning gowns, smart-looking men in flannels, added a last touch of charm to the already charming picture made by the great trees and flower beds in the grounds of "Cuddle Doon."

Booths dotted the grounds here and there, adding attractive bits of coloring to the already gay picture. The ice cream booth was in charge of Mrs. Wellington, assisted by Mrs. Aiken; the fancywork booth was in charge of Mrs. Martin; Mrs. A. W. Brown and Mrs. Minford were very successful with the jams, jellies and cakes booth; the tea table was in charge of Mrs. Haskins; Miss Sarah Conlin and Miss Marion Keith needed to replenish their punch bowl several times before the close of the party; Miss Jessie Conlin and Miss Dorothy Keefe sold quantities of home made candies; the Mother Goose grab bag, in charge of Mrs. Anderson and Miss Janet Culbertson, furnished fun for young and old alike, and Miss Braman, in a delightful old Colonial costume, was a decided success as the cigarette girl. The following splendid program was given:

Violin solo, Mrs. Tritt, accompanied by Miss Hauber; vocal duet, Mr. and Mrs. Cavanagh, with an encore by Mrs. Cavanagh, sung in the Persian; musical readings and dances, by a group of Mrs. Nanno Woods' pupils.

Tells of India

Sir Henry Sharpe, who spoke at some length on the "Bengali Babu," was well received; the Misses Nielson presented two charming dances in Spanish costume; Miss Minto gave "The Flower Song" from "Faust," and "Bocca Dolorosa," in her agreeable manner (she will sing this coming Sunday morning, July 1, at Grauman's theatre, Los Angeles); little Elizabeth Talbot-Martin did a dainty little fairy dance in her old-world way; Miss Frances Morgan charmed her audience, as always, with her grace and artistry; Miss Laura Estelle Cadmus sang "Salome Aria" from "Herodiads," by Massenet, with her powerful voice, trained under Madame Helen Beach Yaw, accompanied by Miss Fennel Lorraine, of Long Beach.

A group of the singers from McGroarty's "Mission Play" delighted everyone with old favorites such as "In the Gloaming," "In the Land of the Sky Blue Waters," etc., accompanied by Mrs. McGroarty.

Miss Hauber, well known here, sang in her own sweet and girlish way, "By the Waters of Minnetonka," Lieurance, and "At Dawn," Cadman, accompanied by Miss Fennel Lorraine on the piano and by Mrs. Tritt on the violin.

Cake Brings $5

Much fun was added to the proceedings by the clever way in which Mr. Dodd raised the bids on the articles he was auctioning off. A cake, under his persuasive salesmanship, brought $5.

Other cakes were raffled off for sizable sums, total receipts for the afternoon being as follows: gate receipts, $103.80; cakes, jellies and jams, $72.65; flowers, $23.75; clearances, $10; fortunes, $28; tea, $2.55.

The ice cream and balloon receipts, have not yet been tabulated. Little Misses Marjorie Wildhack, Marie Moag and Elizabeth Talbot Martin circulated among the guests with baskets of nosegays, which found ready sale. Early in the afternoon Mrs. Steven Raymond had her attractive gymnasium tent set up in the door of the studio and was a very busy person telling fortunes from then until twilight. And Seymour Thomas was kept constantly occupied, inside the studio, telling stories of his different pictures, a constant stream of guests visiting his workshop till daylight waned.

Miss Scobs, of Flintridge, took in $12.50, selling blocks of the new church. When all these blocks are sold, the church will have funds to finance its building. Purchasers' names are recorded.

Receipts Are $300

The tables were in charge of Mesdames Cubberson, Haskins, Peak, Bastable and Dunlap. It is estimated that between 200 and 300 guests visited the grounds during the afternoon and the receipts to date were $309, which is most encouraging to all interested in the erection of St. Luke's of the Mountains.

Out-of-town guests present were: Bishop and Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Cosmo Morgan, Mrs. Hancock Banning, Sir Henry and Lady Sharpe, Miss Braman, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Raymond, Miss Minto, all of Los Angeles. Rev. and Mrs. Edwards of St. Luke's, Mr. and Mrs. Pascoe, Mr. and Mrs. Shreve, of the Outlook magazine, and their family, Mrs. Lillian Jackson, the well-known writer, and Miss Fennel Lorraine of Long Beach; Mrs. Cadmus and daughter, Laura Estelle Cadmus of Sierra Madre; Mrs. McGroarty, Mrs. Wallace Morgan, Miss Frances Morgan, C. Panchar and many others from Tujunga.

Mrs. Arnold and daughter, Mrs. Posen, of Pennsylvania avenue, had as their guests Mrs. Robbins of Los Angeles, Mrs. Fred Anderson and her nephew, Frank Anderson of Evanston, Ill., Mrs. A. Brown, her daughter, Mrs. Brown, Jr., and two little daughters of Bombay, India. Everyone was well entertained and voted the affair an absolute

FINES PAY COST OF STREET WORK

Council Appropriates $7500 Of Police Court Fines to Swell Budget

The expenditure of $7,500 accruing from police court fines for expenses of street proceedings, which are afterwards protested-out, abandoned or done under private contract, was authorized last night by the City Council.

"Resolution appropriating available revenue not included in the annual budget," was the title of the official document which was worded as follows:

"Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Glendale, 'Whereas it appears to your council that in the general budget for the present fiscal year the income to be received from police court fines was estimated at $25,000.

"Whereas it appears that there is available revenue derived from said police fines in excess of $7,500 over and above the amount estimated as revenue therefrom;

"Now therefore, as a supplement to said budget, the sum of $7,500 of the receipts from the police court fines in excess of the estimated receipts from said source, is hereby appropriated for the payment of the costs and expenses incurred in the improvement and proceedings for the opening and widening of the streets which said proceedings have been abandoned, protested-out or completed under private contract."

SECOND WEEK OF SERVICE CLOSES

Evangelistic Workers Will Take Rest From Work Saturday Night

The services tonight at the Nazarene revival tent located at Harvard and Orange street, close the second week of the campaign. A special musical program will be presented tonight in addition to the sermon by the pastor, Rev. Swaney.

There will be no services held Saturday night as it is rest night for the workers in the campaign.

The text was taken from St. Matthew for his sermon last night by Rev. Swaney who took as a basis of his sermon the story of the talents. He stated, "This is a parable we ought to consult frequently. In this parable we find this, that to every servant, the Master has committed talents, and gives to every one according to his ability."

The musical program presented at the services last evening included a selection by the Scheidegger-Hull quartet, and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Hull of Los Angeles.

COUNTRY CLUB'S PERMIT GRANTED

$70,292 in One Lump Swells Building Totals for Month of June

Only two building permits were issued yesterday at the city hall. However, one of them was for $70,292 and the other was for $2500 making a total for the day of $72,792. This sum increased the total for the first twenty-eight days of this month to $796,691 and pushed the total for the year to date $65,575 over the five million dollar mark. Three permits issued recently are as follows: Oakmont Country Club, clubhouse, Sparr Heights, $70,292; James H. Gordon, 4 rooms, 1062 Elm street, 2,500; Mary J. Gilbert, additional cost, 425 West Elk street, 200.

Petition Council to Favor Eulalia Site

ritory from Hollywood to Pasadena with Glendale as a central point. The railroad management, after a careful survey, selected the foot of Eulalia street as a location that would best accommodate the whole district. The street system of approach to the Eulalia location can be made adequate for an unlimited volume of traffic without delay or congestion and at small expense, whereas in the case of large crowds serious blockades would occur at the highly expensive Cerritos location unless the railroad company should provide ample driveway outlets over its right of way.

"Third, a large percentage of the depot patrons will use automobiles and the Eulalia location is the better one for such traffic. The Pacific Electric would probably install a bus service between Brand boulevard and the depot for passengers who use its line.

"Fourth, the controversy over the location of the depot has greatly delayed its construction, thereby depriving Glendale of many of the benefits that said depot would confer upon the community.

"Fifth, for the foregoing reasons we earnestly urge you to reaffirm the decision reached at the meeting of the City Council, June 7, 1923, as set forth in the letter written to your direction by the city manager to the Southern Pacific. We believe that definite and final action of this character would prevent further delay in the construction of the depot and hasten the completion of this very important improvement."

Smith's Fords Win in Twilight League Game

Smith's Fords scored a 32 to 15 win over the Postoffice in the last night's game of the Twilight league baseball series, played on the Glendale Union high school grounds.

Tonight the City Employees and the Standard Oils clash on the above grounds at 7:30 o'clock, announces Secretary R. Ernest Tucker of Community Service, under whose auspices the series is being run off.

Small Boys Find Silver Mine And Get Rich Quick

FIVE cents a head! That's a small price for head hunters, but it was effective. Four hundred and eighty-six boys responded to the call of George M. Young to advertise his Palace Grand barber shop yesterday.

"We'll say he started something. He offered one lad early yesterday a nickel if he would register his name on a book so he could call him by his 'front' name."

"And I'll give you a nickel for every boy you bring to my shop," added the jovial Mr. Young, "or 10 cents if a girl who gets her hair bobbed."

The first boy had earned $1.10 in two hours' time. Another boy who joined in the hunt made the buffalo snort for $2.35. Nearly 600 customers, or prospective customers, were registered by closing hour, 6 p. m.

The four barbers and Mr. Young did a wonderful business and got the opportunity to explain their tonsorial methods. The offer continued today and a shortage of nickels may result, but the boys will be paid. Incidentally, a lot of them will have their hair cut.

LOT DRAWING TO BE ON LABOR DAY

Knights of Columbus to Sell More Tickets on Sparr Heights Property

At the meeting of the Glendale council, Knights of Columbus, Wednesday night, it was announced by Dr. Berry, chairman of the recent picnic success, that all the tickets for the lot in Sparr Heights had not been disposed of so that the drawing for the lot was postponed until Labor Day. All those holding tickets have been asked to keep their tickets until that date.

Deputy Grand Knight Michael Gannon presided in the absence of Grand Knight Harry Girard.

Legion to Entertain Veterans Tonight

Post 127 of the American Legion will hold open house at its hall, 610 East Broadway, to all ex-service men of this community and Legionnaires from surrounding posts many of whom are planning to attend tonight's celebration.

A professional vaudeville entertainment has been booked by Fred W. Regelin of 505 Patterson avenue, chairman of the entertainment committee. He believes that it will be the liveliest affair ever staged by the local post.

Commander Chalmers Day stated this morning that a special invitation was being issued to Spanish War Veterans and all ex-service men, whether members of the local post or not, to attend the get-acquainted affair.

M'GROARTY WILL LECTURE SUNDAY

Poet of Verdugo Hills to Speak to Men's Club At Local Church

John Steven McGroarty, poet of the green Verdugo hills, and author of the famous Mission play of San Gabriel, will speak at the First Congregational church, corner of Central and Wilson avenues, Sunday night, July 1, at 7:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the Congregational Men's club. This will be a meeting of unusual interest to the men of the community.

The male quartet and choir will furnish a pleasing musical program. The members of the quartet are Messrs. Julian Haywood, Payson Haywood, Kenneth Payne and R. Dale Crumpton. Solos will be rendered by Henry H. Cantor, well-known lyric tenor and R. Dale Crumpton, baritone.

There will be no admission charged and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

well as a harvest of violence and disorder. "Instead of riots, strikes, sabotage and preachments of revolution," said the president, "we reaped a harvest of understanding, of established respect among groups and enhanced regard for each other's viewpoints."

No other nation in the world, he added, has been able to parallel the peace time recovery of American business.

The president painted a gloomy picture of business and economic conditions when his administration assumed the helm in Washington two years ago.

President Harding arrived at 10 o'clock this morning to find practically the entire mining community at the Great Northern station to greet him.

After speaking at the station, the president was taken in an automobile for a visit to the Leonard mine, after which he went to the ball park and decorated a group of boy scouts for bravery.

Only a three hour stop was planned for Butte, the president leaving early this afternoon for Helena where he speaks tonight.

SOCIAL EVENTS

honoring Mrs. M. W. Reeve, national president of the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher association.

Glendale women present were Mesdames C. E. Hutchinson, John Robert White, E. B. Moore, E. S. McKee, P. S. McNutt, H. V. Henry, Mae Rosenberg, Phillips and A. H. Brown.

Upon her presentation by Mrs. Shelton Bissell, Mrs. Reeve highly praised the California organizations and left with them four important thoughts: "Remember you are parents twelve months in the year; the training of the child should begin at home; endeavor to educate the membership of the association; and the salesmanship of education, teaching the value of education."

Class Picnics

The members of the Junior Philathea class of the Casa Verde Sunday school motored to Brookside park yesterday afternoon for the annual class picnic. The afternoon hours were devoted to tennis, baseball, and a number enjoyed a half hour in the new swimming pool. A delicious picnic supper was served at 6 o'clock, and the party returned at an early hour.

Those participating were Miss E. Maude Soper, teacher; Misses Lucile Bruner, Julia Goetz, Ruth Rames, Luella Wright, Alice Garber, Erma Garber, Helen Porter, Frances Drake, Ruth Yoder, Margaret Jernegan, Gladys Hollingsworth, Charlotte Hawkins, May Goetz, Alice Green, Margaret Taylor, Gladys Sharpe, Lucile Scrivener, Mildred Morgan. Special guests were Mrs. F. R. Bruner, Mrs. O. E. Goetz, Miss Beatrice Sasse.

Entertainers Class

The members of the R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church held their regular monthly business meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. J. Maxwell, 400 West Stocker street.

The Maxwell home was artistically decorated with a profusion of yellow and white daisies. The devotional services were led by Mrs. Rene Olin, which was followed by a short business session over which the president, Mrs. J. Roger Bentley presided.

Mrs. J. P. Moody gave an interesting talk on the White Cross work and a pleasing program consisting of piano solos and readings was given by Miss Susan Frances White, a well-known musician of Los Angeles.

Special guests were Mrs. Hilley, Miss Susan Frances White of Los Angeles, Mrs. C. E. Ford, and Mrs. E. E. Ford.

Later in the afternoon refreshments consisting of ice-cream and home-made cake were served for the forty members and friends present by the hostesses, Mesdames Fred Abbey, J. L. Gray and A. J. Maxwell.

Final Meeting

The Alpha Delphian chapter of Glendale held its closing meeting on the grounds of the public library, when Miss Orvil Wing, southern California district supervisor, planned with the chapter for its study course next season.

This course will be on Greek drama, announces Mrs. E. A. Bode, secretary, who states that the next meeting will be the fourth Thursday in September, which is September 27, and will be held with Mrs. Charles Marshall, 525 South Central avenue.

Moonlight Picnic

A moonlight picnic was enjoyed by the choir and associate members of the choir of the Central Avenue church, of which Dr. Joseph Marple is director and Mrs. Casper Tuttle is pianist, Thursday night at the Pacific Palisades.

The party left Glendale at 4:30 and motored to the picnic grounds, bearing well filled lunch baskets which, according to the prodigious tales of those present, came back much lighter. The time was spent mostly in eating, although an informal sing was a part of the program. A visit to Inspiration Point was one of the special pleasures of the occasion, the view in the moonlight was especially inspiring. The party arrived home about 11:30.

The picnicers were Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Marple and son, Joe, Jr.; Dr. and Mrs. V. Hunter Brink, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Tuttle and daughter, Janice; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McMaisters and son, Harold; Mrs. E. J. Besant and Miss Esther Besant; Charles H. Muhleman, Miss Helen Muhleman, Miss Emily Kopp, Mrs. Carrie Frahm, Donald, Philip and Norman Frahm; Harold Williams, W. H. Marple, E. Eighmey, Miss Carol Eighmey, Mrs. E. E. Harwood, Ruth and Palmer Harwood, Mrs. Gertrude Tisdale, Mr. and Mrs. Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Forney, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Seals.

Board Guests

The radiant hospitality of Ard Eevin, the Daniel Campbell home on the heights, was again enjoyed by the board of directors of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, when they and their husbands were entertained last night at an informal dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

In addition to the board circle there was a small company of other guests. Two long tables had been arranged in the dining room and Mrs. Campbell presided over the table for the men guests, while Mr. Campbell was master of ceremonies at the table for the women guests.

Events of the evening were the presentation to Mrs. Campbell of countless clever little gifts, accompanied by witty original poems, the initiation of William Hunter, husband of the new secretary, into the "inner circle"; and an impromptu program by moonlight on the spacious front porch.

There were thirty-one in the company, including members of last year's board and the board for the coming year and their husbands. In addition invitations were issued to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Toll, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts and Mrs. A. L. Weaver.

Meet On Monday

The members of the American Legion Auxiliary will hold their regular meeting Monday night, July 2, at the American Legion hall on East Broadway, at 8 o'clock.

During the meeting six new members will be initiated. At the close of the regular business session a program in the nature of a surprise will be presented and refreshments served. The committee in charge of the program consists of Mrs. Margaret Kaeding, Mrs. C. T. Jones and Mrs. Eugene Gilliland.

The members' husbands and escorts are to be special guests of the evening.

June had thirty days in the time of Romulus, later it lost four, then regained them.

Brilliant Event

Elaborate plans are being completed for the summer dance and card party, to be given tomorrow night at the Masonic temple by the Omar Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem, for the Masonic building fund.

The White Shrine is noted for delightful social affairs, and the members and friends are looking forward to the affair tomorrow night.

Mrs. William McMillan heads the committee, including Mrs. Maude Evans, Mrs. Edith Richardson, Alvah Leland, Warren Roberts and Porter Custer. Mrs. Warren Roberts is in charge of the card tables.

Features will be dance music by the Kelly Shrine Club orchestra and a series of favor dances. During the grand march the women will all receive tissue paper parasols and the men canes as favors.

Improvement of Park Avenue Is Discussed

William B. Collins of 208 East Park avenue. "You settle this question today and then, if it comes up in five or ten years, somebody will say that you didn't do your duty. There is no reason why this street shouldn't be sixty feet wide. You people are to settle this question not only for tomorrow but for many tomorrows to come."

John Cover of 114 North Everett street, who owns acreage which would be bisected by the opening of Park avenue, objected to the improvement of Tyler street. He said that this was a small, unimportant street going nowhere and called attention to the fact that it has a hill at one end of it.

City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy submitted a written report as follows:

"I have checked all protests and find that the frontage on the protests to be 28.76 per cent of the total frontage."

TONSILS TAKEN OUT

NEW THROAT CAN PRODUCE SOUNDS

Artificial Cavities Give Out Whispered Intonations, Inventor Claims

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service
LONDON, June 29.—An artificial throat, capable of reproducing the vowel sounds that are made by the human voice, is the latest astonishing scientific invention to appear in London. It is the invention of Sir Richard Paget and its exhibition at a recent congress of scientists here aroused much interest.

Sir Richard in an interview, described the processes and possibilities of his unusual invention. "There have been scientific experiments made for the reproduction of the human voice since 1779," he said. "A good many vowel sounds have been reproduced, but it never has been possible to produce all the vowel sounds and the principle of vowel production by the human voice did not seem to be understood."

"About a year ago I got interested in listening to the sound of my own voice when whispering. I had heard in my own mouth, these vowel sounds without using the larynx. I heard in every case two notes or resonances inside my mouth."

Copied Own Voice
"I then made experiments with plastic cavities, which I tuned to have the same resonances as those I had heard in my own mouth. These plastic cavities were bottle-shaped, with waists, and according as the model had a high waist or a low waist, or a stout waist or a thin waist, the two cavities gave different resonant notes. When I was blown through such a model the effect on the two resonating cavities was to produce what we call a whispered vowel sound."

"Having added on a reed at the back of the model so as to pass vibratory air through the model instead of a continuous stream of air, these resonances colored the notes that came from the reed in a way which the human ear appreciated as vowel sounds."

Practical Uses
"The practical result of the experiment is to give an explanation of the mechanism of vowel production, and also the possibility of testing by experiments with models the different effects of the variations of the larynx and the variations in the size and contour of the cavities of the human mouth. The experiments also lead to the possibility of making an instrument that will imitate the human voice much more closely than has been possible heretofore—for example, an improved vox humana pipe for organs. It would also be possible to make talking dolls."

"Then there is the possibility of making models for standardizing vowel sounds for instructional purposes. The phonograph is not altogether satisfactory as a method of standardizing vowel sounds because the vowel sound in a phonograph varies as the speed varies, whereas in these models the vowel sound is constant, whatever the speed and whatever the larynx note employed."

"There is a further possibility of applying the invention to the development of a new branch of music since it is clear that human speech is essentially a musical effect."

Scouts Will Start For Camp Tomorrow

Forty-five local Boy Scouts will leave Glendale early tomorrow morning for Camp Roy-Kent, near Lake Arrowhead. These scouts will remain at the camp ten days, returning to Glendale July 9.

Frank C. Ayars, chairman of the camping committee, visited the camp Thursday and reports that everything is in readiness for the contingent of scouts going up tomorrow.

Through the quick work of the pioneer scout a forest fire was subdued almost single-handed by the scouts. B. W. Switzer, chief ranger, commended the boys very highly for their prompt and efficient work. Burchard, who had never seen a group of boys put a fire in such a businesslike manner.

All scouts who have made application for reservation for this ten-day period are urged to report at the district scout office, 103 1/2 South Brand boulevard, not later than 8:15 o'clock Saturday morning.

College Girl Shoots Self in Automobile
Because of ill health Miss Maude A. Foster, Stanford university graduate and guest at the La Crescenta hotel, committed suicide by shooting, some time Wednesday, in her automobile parked near the Flintridge Country club, according to Pasadena police reports.

It is said that Miss Foster, who was 27 years of age, registered in April at the La Crescenta hotel with her mother, Mrs. J. S. Foster. Mrs. Foster left several days ago for a visit with friends in San Francisco.

Further reports state that Miss Foster had been a victim of an incurable disease, and, although of a gay disposition and seldom despondent, she had been failing rapidly recently.

Dog Doing His Duty Excused for Biting
AKRON, Ohio, June 29.—Sentenced to execution for biting a policeman during a liquor raid on a foreigner's home in Little Cuyahoga Falls, near here, "Prince," a pedigree bulldog, was given a pardon after Health Officer D. Shira declared the animal innocent of evidences of rabies.

The dog was arrested formally, with its master, and the latter was charged with illegally owning a dog. This charge was dismissed and the bulldog sentenced to be shot for attacking an officer in the performance of his duty. Then a newspaper took up the dog's case, pointed out that he only did his duty, even as the policeman was doing his, thus arousing public sympathy, which resulted in many letters and personal appeals demanding that the animal's life be spared. The intention of members of the police department to shoot the dog was frustrated by the health officer, who ordered "Prince" released forthwith.

The officer was severely bitten about the arms and hands as he essayed to force the door of the residence "Prince" was guarding.

Probe Rabbi's Death In Poison Mystery
SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The finding of a trace of deadly poison in the stomach of Dr. Martin A. Meyer, nationally known Jewish leader and rabbi of Temple Emanu-El here, following his sudden death Wednesday, caused authorities today to start a complete investigation.

Rabbi Meyer was found dead seated at his study table. He had apparently been reading as death came. Autopsy Surgeon Clark suggested acute poisoning may have caused death, the poison forming from disintegration of certain foods.

Theunis Cabinet Back In Power in Belgium
BRUSSELS, June 29.—The Theunis cabinet which resigned fifteen days ago returned to power today. After M. Theunis had failed repeatedly to form a new Belgian government the old ministers consented to hold on. Negotiations with France upon the Ruhr—reparations issue will be hastened so that France can return a formal reply early next week to the recent memorandum on Ruhr policy submitted by the British.

KIRK TELLS OF LIFE UPON SHIP

Glendale Man, Headed for Europe, Is Impressed By Experiences

Broad street and we took train to New York from there.

"A friend of mine was telling me of an incident which shows how the possession of money sometimes counts little in attaining earthly happiness. A wealthy man of Chicago was on his way to Atlantic City with his family and a large retinue of servants. The fire at the Broad street station wiped out everything he had brought for his comfort during the summer; all of his clothing and that of their servants, furnishings, equipment, nothing was left them but what they wore. Of course they can buy more, but think of the time and trouble to be consumed in hot days in replenishing all this stuff. Truly, we all have our troubles."

Meets Company Officials
"Philadelphia, the old city of conservatism and substantiality, is going steadily along and beautiful skyscrapers are going up. My family had never before had the privilege of seeing Independence Hall, Carpenters' Hall and their contents, which are objects of such veneration by all Americans."

"My business at the home office of 'The Provident,' which consisted principally of getting letters of credit, traveler's checks, etc., for the financing of the trip, consumed part of my day. My meeting with the officers and workers of our great company was so cordial and happy that I rejoiced more than ever that I was connected with such an organization. The fact that it is located in Philadelphia naturally endears the old town to me."

"Well, here we are in the 'Big Town.' It would be fine if we could enter every large city as you can New York, with as little trouble and confusion and loss of time. After a short ride through the tunnel under the Hudson, a porter takes your grips as you descend from the train, and you follow him up two short flights and then through a long tunnel under Seventh avenue to the elevator in the Pennsylvania hotel; no ferries, taxis or even crossing of a street, and here we are in the splendid hotel, one of the largest anywhere, containing '2,200 rooms, 2,200 baths.' And the rates are very reasonable for nowadays, $9 for the three of us. We paid $10 for not so good a room in Washington."

Complains About Weather
"The weather is so fierce that stirring about much is too great an exertion. The mercury is at 94 this afternoon and was 72 at 6 a. m. Some of you know what that is in New York! I was completely unprepared for the heat here, or most of the things I anticipated trouble at the British consulate did not materialize. I was treated splendidly and was all fixed up in about twenty minutes. Wasn't even asked for a letter from my 'banker' and the extra fee for entering Palestine wasn't even suggested."

"The only trouble encountered was with Norway, where they require the filling out of two questionnaires, and furnishing two more photos of each party going. They seem very particular, also, as to how long you expect to stay. They are very independent, and when I complained at what I was compelled to endure because the consul was 'out on business,' I was told that I should have applied ten days ahead of sailing time, that the United States consuls, that the United States consuls, that their subjects to endure much greater hardships on entering our country."

"I could only retort that 'two wrongs don't make a right.' I finally secured all I wanted for the present before the consulate closed (which is at 3 p. m., 'daylight saving' time, or 2 p. m., 'right time' here). I have visas for Denmark, Norway, Sweden, France, Britain and Italy, which cover the most important."

Meets Hard Work
"We will leave Germany and that section till we get over. But how I have hustled and sweated to do this today! Say, some folks think that selling insurance is hard work, but it's soft compared to some of the hardships we are going up against. I see that right now."

Outside of the skyscrapers and business of New York, I think the two things which impress the visitor are its transportation system and its Yiddish population. We don't have to go to Palestine to be in the home of the Jew. The total population of that country is about two-thirds of a million, as against 2,000,000 Jews in New York!

"As for transportation, the express trains of the subway make over forty miles an hour, and carry passengers from the heart of the city to Coney Island (which is our 'Venice') to New York for 5 cents. And it is just about the same distance as Venice from Los Angeles! Compare the rates."

"But it is too hot to write more. We have another hot night before us, and sail at noon tomorrow, so must get to the dock as early as we can. We touch at Boston, so are not yet out of the country."

Ready For Sailing
Mr. Kirk's letter, written on board the boat bound for Europe, follows:

"Well, folks, we have 'hopped off.' That is, we have walked the gangplank to the deck of the boat which is expected to land us in Copenhagen in about ten days. I am told by a man who has gone over on her that we will probably be twelve or thirteen days. She is a staunch, good vessel, but slow. For our purpose, however, this is no drawback. I am expecting the ocean voyage to do wonders for the wife, so the longer it takes the better it suits me."

"In order to pick up about 100 passengers for the Gothenburg Exposition, our ship makes a special stop at Bost tomorrow,

ASK REPORTS OF TAX COLLECTION

Special Form of Contract Is Advocated by Asa Hall At Council Meeting

A new contract between the city of Glendale and the county of Los Angeles for the collection of municipal taxes was suggested last night at the council meeting by Councilman Asa Hall. He instructed City Attorney Ray L. Morrow to draw up a new contract providing for certain reports which, he stated, are not being given at the present time.

City Controller H. C. Saulsberry expressed his opinion that all reports to communities by the county tax office were made on the same form. Mr. Hall asserted that he knew positively that the city of Los Angeles had a special contract which provided for additional reports to those being received now.

MAN FATALLY HURT
LOS ANGELES, June 29.—Slipping from the seat of a water wagon he was driving at Donald avenue and Clay street, harbor district, for the city street department, Robert Tracy, 52, of 1549 Bay street, San Pedro, was probably fatally injured when the wheels of the heavy wagon passed over his body.

where this letter will be mailed. I am writing it close on the heels of the last because I want you to have one a week and will not be able to mail another till we reach Norway.

"We had a very hot night after I wrote you last night in New York, but we reached the dock of the Scandinavian-American line in Hoboken about 9:45 o'clock by 'yellow taxi.' True, we had a wait of twenty or thirty minutes for the Hoboken ferry, but the charge of $6.50 was a robbery as I afterward learned."

"They will take you to the ferry for about $1 and we could have gotten out and then have had our luggage carried by a porter for three or four blocks to the dock, and thus saved about $5. Remember this, if you ever go this way, New York City regulates rates better than when you get out of it, look out, wonder how many thousand 'yellows' there are in New York? You can't look up without seeing three or four."

"Arrived at the pier, the Danish S. S. 'Hellig Olav' was alive with humanity, so we were soon aboard. Our passports, visas and tickets were very quickly inspected and passed, and the baggage man told me that the trunk had been put aboard yesterday."

Deeply Impressed
"A number of you who read these letters have been overseas, some of you several times, and no doubt you will smile at all the details which I enter into. A very large majority of you, however, have not been across, so I believe that you experienced ones will bear with me if I seem tedious. You have had your thrills, let us have some more."

"I think we were more deeply impressed with our departure than we had expected to be. After the mail had been hoisted aboard and the great whistle had blown, the seriousness of the long trip seemed to take possession of everybody."

"We had no friends at the dock, but many of the passengers had, and as the band began to play and the boat began to back slowly out, hats, handkerchiefs and flags began to wave both from the pier and the boat. Tears began to show in some eyes, and until we had headed about and started down the river the demonstration was more affecting than I had ever imagined it would be."

Very Little English
"Soon, however, the famous skyline of New York attracted our attention, then the Statue of Liberty made our hearts beat faster as we took in the city below, and what it stands for, and after we had passed it 'the cats' absorbed our attention."

"They were pronounced 'good.' We had no coffee till about 3 o'clock, when we were served with a splendid Danish coffee and delicious Danish pastries. The dinner tonight was also good, different from our American cooking."

"A great part of the passenger list are, of course, Danes and Norwegians. Most of the crew can speak little or no English. We will have to get used to that, though, and had just as well begin now."

"Our cabin is on the north side of the boat and is rather small, but it was the last good one to be had, and we were glad to get it. Not a cabin was to be had on a time when the wife was able to travel, so we are happy to be off and feel that we have so much to be thankful for."

"As we left the heat of New York for the cool breezes of the Atlantic, we will possibly not suffer again from heat. The reports come that it is a very backward, cold season in northern Europe, and that spring has been very late. I saw a report that the temperature in Copenhagen at 8 a. m. on the 15th was 48."

North of Beaten Track
"Our course lies north of the beaten track and we round the north coast of Scotland between the Orkneys and Shetland, touching at Christiansand, Norway, for the first stop."

"We received some beautiful letters from friends to be read on the trip, and four more were in our cabin when we came aboard. They look mighty good. How sweet is friendship."

"But enough. Has the time yet come when we may say 'Auf Wiedersehen' and not be criticized? I hope so. Here we are at Boston harbor."

Classified Ads Pay Declares Fred Shuck

That classified advertisements in The Glendale Evening News are productive of results for the advertiser and are, therefore, a profitable investment, was the assertion made yesterday by Fred Shuck, of the Shuck Music company, to an Evening News reporter.

In the Wednesday issue of The Glendale Evening News, Mr. Shuck advertised a Ludwig piano for sale at a cash price of $325. Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock, the piano was sold. Mr. Shuck had the money, his patron had the piano, and everyone was happy. The entire transaction was completed in a few minutes' time, and all be-

Home Town Newspaper Is Force In Building Up Business Of Community

By GIL A. COWAN

READ it in The Glendale Evening News! Of course, you do, for the news of the world, the local happenings and the advertisements of your home merchants are found in its columns, not to forget the many features published each day. It is interesting to have a person meet you on the street and tell you all that he has seen in one edition of this newspaper. Really, it is a pleasure to know that the work of the staff is being appreciated in the homes and in the business establishments of growing Glendale. Today, for instance, you find the announcements for Saturday by the merchants which are well worth your perusal. Advertising is the business builder of any community and no better medium can be found than the "home town" paper which "rings true" in its tone.

There is something of interest on every page. Take page one, for example with its latest telegraphic dispatches and important local events truthfully chronicled. Indeed, it suffices for a daily newspaper printed anywhere. And on page two you find the personal and social events collected by a corps of competent writers.

Live Advertising
On the following pages news of general interest and advertisements quoting the latest prices on commodities that are seasonable make the columns pulsate. Then come the two pages of classified advertising—a little record for a city the size of Glendale—that have pulling power that is nothing short of phenomenal. You will save enough by reading the want ads to pay you over and over again for the subscription price.

In the second section of The Glendale Evening News the first page is devoted to local events worthy of featuring, real live news subjects of civic importance, sometimes illustrated, and always worthy of attention. The second section also contains the feature services furnished by the Central Press Association, the George Matthews Adams syndicate, the International syndicate, McClure's Pictorial Review and other excellent sources of supply.

Every day numerous inquiries are addressed to Dr. Lulu Hunt Peters or Laura Kirkman, or Edna Kent Forbes, or Mrs. Thompson—all writing on topics that intrigue our women readers. Also, there is no home with children where Uncle Wiggily and Billy Whiskers bedtime stories are not read with the keenest delight.

Sport Features
The Evening News sports page is a big attraction for the men folks. Right today the latest reports on the Shelby fight situation, the baseball dope and world wide events are chronicled by experts. It is a desire to print more and more sporting news for there isn't a man with soul so cause The News liners brought buyer and seller together. "News ads certainly pay," said Mr. Shuck.

ROTARIANS HONOR JOHN G. HUNTLEY

Memorial Will Be Sent to Widow; A. H. Dibbern to Leave for South

Resolutions of respect for the late John G. Huntley were read and adopted yesterday afternoon by the Glendale Rotary club which then adjourned in honor of the departed member who was sincerely loved by all whose fellowship he had. Attorney Owen C. Emery drafted the memorial, a copy of which is being forwarded Mrs. Edith Huntley.

There was a note of sadness about yesterday's meeting as a result of the death in the ranks and telegrams of condolence were read from members absent from the city. No business was transacted. Visiting Rotarians present were J. R. Knapp of Los Angeles and Dan R. Breneman of Hobart, Okla.

To Attend Convention
Arthur H. Dibbern asked for a six weeks' leave of absence, announcing that he is leaving next Wednesday for Atlanta, Ga., where he will attend the national convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. He is the past exalted ruler of the local lodge.

George U. Moyse, principal of Glendale Union High school, also asked for a three weeks' leave as he will go to the Bay Cities next Monday to attend the National Education Association meeting. Rev. Ernest E. Ford is leaving Monday also for a week with the Y. M. C. A. boys on Catalina island.

MUSIC PROGRAMS FOR EXPOSITION

World's Leading Musicians
To Play Monster Organs
At Centennial

Leading musicians of southern California have aided officials of the American Historical Review and Motion Picture Industrial Exposition, to be held at Los Angeles July 2 to August 4, in arranging most attractive and elaborate musical programs.

Daily recitals on two huge pipe organs installed by the Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. of Los Angeles street will be one of the principal attractions. Noted organists will be at the organs in the Church Around the Corner and Women's auditorium.

Vested choirs, vocalists of international renown, nationally known instrumental soloists and others will be heard in the recitals. Services and programs are to be featured by selections appropriate to the general theme of the exposition setting and Latin-American airs will be rendered by representatives from the picturesque little republics, and students studying with professors from those countries.

The Wurlitzer organs, according to M. M. Stern, representative of the concern furnishing the instruments, will add a unique touch to the exposition, as the music will be heard in all parts of the grounds during the recitals. The instruments are insured for $70,000 and are said to be the latest and most improved organs on the Pacific coast. Steel-trussed balconies were constructed to accommodate the huge instruments in the church and auditorium. The organs contain many innovations in construction.

Bible School Opens Monday for Children

The vacation Bible school will open Monday at the First Methodist church.

All children between the ages of 5 and 12 are welcome to attend the sessions between 9 and 12 o'clock in the morning five days a week. The time will be divided between devotionals, music, handwork, the telling of Biblical stories and games.

Parents who desire their children to obtain a fuller knowledge of the Bible can do no better than to send their children to this school, which will last four weeks, according to Rev. Harry Rasmus. He emphasizes the fact that there is no charge.

The faculty will be composed of Rev. and Mrs. Harry Rasmus and Miss Alice Lookabaugh, member of the faculty of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school.

Girl Alleges Realty Man Assaulted Her

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—In a voice barely audible, eighteen-year-old Ruth Norman, star witness against Jack O'Brien, Emmett Rice and Ray Scott, accused of a $100,000 blackmail conspiracy against C. C. Julian, wealthy oil promoter, in Judge Wood's court yesterday charged Edmund Perry, a prominent real estate man, with having attacked her in a downtown hotel.

Too many lies spoken in emergency will soon form a habit.

RUTH E. WATERMAN BRIDE OF KENNETH R. JACKSON

Wed On 24th Anniversary Of Mr. And Mrs. D. Ripley Jackson
Many Friends Attend
Services at Home of Pretty Girl

Amid the artistic surroundings of her home at 1443 Dorothy drive, Miss Ruth E. Waterman, daughter of Mrs. Mary K. Waterman, became the bride last night, Thursday, June 28, 1923, of Kenneth R. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Ripley Jackson of 1800 South Brand boulevard.

An added happiness of the occasion for Mr. and Mrs. Jackson was that their son's marriage occurred on the anniversary of their own wedding, which took place twenty-four years ago in West Orange, N. J.

Dr. George Cornell, Episcopal rector of Pasadena, was the officiant last night, reading the ceremony at 8 o'clock before a company of more than fifty relatives and friends, from Glendale and other southern California cities.

Beautifully Decorated

The Waterman home is ideally arranged for receiving and it was most beautifully decorated for the wedding. In the living-room were baskets of pastel shaded sweetpeas and maidenhair fern. While in the dining-room, where the ceremony took place, a rich array of flowers and greenery were arranged.

The canopy was fashioned from fern, while the altar was banked with pink and white sweetpeas and potted ferns and showered with delicate maidenhair fern. On either side were tall baskets of pink gladioli, blue delphinium and maidenhair fern. Suspended from the center of the canopy was a silver wedding bell with streamers of silver ribbon caught with sprays of lilies of the valley.

On the dining-table, amid artistic decorations, were the bride's cake and another wedding cake. The bride's cake was a wonderful piece of work, being in three layers, iced elaborately in white and surmounted by a tiny bride and groom. The other cake was also three layers and bore on the top layer the initials of the bride and groom in gold letters. It was a gift from Hazen J. Titus, the fruit cake king.

Play Bridal Music

Directed by A. M. Kelly, talented violinist, the Kelly Shrine Club orchestra played bridal music before the ceremony and during the reception following. They played the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus for the entrance of the bride party, and also the accompaniment for a solo by D. Ripley Jackson.

Mr. Jackson sang "Out Where the Blue Begins," a new and most appropriate composition. Miss Grace Anna Jackson, sister of the groom, was the first member of the bride party to enter the living room. She attended as maid of honor, and wore a frock of pink georgette crepe, trimmed with white lace and silver ribbon. Her bouquet was of pink roses and fern.

Following was Mrs. Nelson Van Wormer, matron of honor. She was gowned in apricot taffeta and carried Opheelia roses.

MRS. KENNETH R. JACKSON, formerly Ruth E. Waterman, who was wed last night at a most pleasingly attractive ceremony.

Then came the four bridesmaids, presenting a charming quartet in their pastel-shaded gowns. Miss Louise Hollenbeck wore orchid organdy over pink satin; Miss Dorothea Vogel, pale green organdy over pink satin; Miss Dorothy Chandler, peach organdy over pink satin, and Miss Murray Longley, pale blue organdy over pink satin. They all carried arm bouquets of sweetpeas to match their gowns.

Attractive Features

Just preceding the bride were the cunning flower girls and ring bearer. Little Isabel Phister and Ann Lambert were charmingly frocked in pink and lavender organdy and carried little baskets filled with Cecil Bruner rose buds and rose petals to scatter in the bride's path.

Junior Van Wormer, 15 months old, the little ring bearer, was the attraction of all eyes. He wore a little suit of black satin and white silk and carried the ring in the heart of a rose.

Edwin Chandler attended Mr. Jackson as best man, and the ushers were Warren Meeker, Brigham Bennett, William Farner and George Fraley.

Miss Waterman, who entered with Mr. Jackson, was a delightful picture in her bridal attire. Her gown was a rich combination of ivory satin and imported, embroidered pineapple cloth. The pineapple cloth was the wedding gown of her mother thirty years ago and was remodeled and combined with the satin for her becoming gown. Strips of pearl trimming added pleasing touches. Her veil, which was of soft Brussels silk net, fell the full length of her gown. It was held across the forehead with a medallion of the embroidered pineapple cloth, and caught at the back of the head with a spray of orange blossoms.

The bridal bouquet was most beautiful, being a drop arm shower of bride's roses, with center drop of orchids and showers of lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern.

Pleasing Costumes

Mrs. Waterman was gowned for the wedding in white satin crepe, while Mrs. D. Ripley Jackson wore a becoming creation of lavender georgette crepe over pink taffeta and silver lace.

An informal reception after the ceremony was featured by congratulations and cutting of the bride's cake.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left for a wedding trip, planning to return and be at home to their friends after July 15 with Mrs. Waterman at 1443 Dorothy drive. Miss Louise Hollenbeck was the fortunate young woman who caught the bride's bouquet.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are graduates of the Glendale High school and they and their families have been residents of Glendale for several years. Mr. Jackson's father is Glendale postmaster. Recognition of their popularity and wide circle of friends in southern California and other parts of the state was seen in the wealth of wedding presents received.

The wedding company included relatives and young friends and schoolmates of both Mr. and Mrs. Jackson.

Scientists Seeking For Knockless Gas

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 29.—Development of a "knockless" gas, with an abundance of "kick," is the goal toward which W. Hale Charch, of Dayton, is striving. Charch, who is working under an Ohio State University fellowship, is conducting research work as an extension of experiments with an anti-knock compound discovered by C. F. Kettering, of Dayton, president of the General Motors Research Corporation and a trustee of Ohio State University, and another man.

A successful trial of the "Knockless" gasoline, it is said, has been made at the McCook aviation field, Dayton. The function of the anti-knock "gas" is to prevent carbonization, subsequent pre-ignition and other motor troubles. It is asserted by scientists that when the day of "knockless" gasoline has arrived engines will be built permitting higher compression, resulting in greater power and mileage.

Common gasoline, after combustion in the cylinders of an automobile, leaves a deposit of carbon, which, with the continued operation of the engine, attains a high temperature. This sometimes causes the fresh charge of gasoline to explode in the cylinder before the spark ignites it, resulting in a recoil of the piston which produces the "knock."

BIRTHDAY PARTY MARKS 92ND YEAR

George Mallett Celebrates Anniversary at Home of Daughter Here

One of Glendale's "youngest" old people is George Mallett, member of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club, who celebrated on Wednesday the ninety-second anniversary of his birth in Bridgewater, Conn. Mr. Mallett first saw the light of day when Andrew Jackson was presiding over the destinies of the United States.

Although within sight of the century mark, Mr. Mallett is possessed of good health, takes an active interest in the affairs of the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. R. Davis of 1111 East Lexington drive, where he resides, and maintains an enthusiasm about civic and national events.

During the past sixteen years it has been Mrs. Davis' custom to celebrate her father's birthday by inviting the same group of people, and on Wednesday of this week these friends gathered for an informal evening honoring Mr. Mallett.

Two Birthday Cakes

Features of the celebration were two large birthday cakes, cut and served late in the evening.

Pleasures of the day for Mr. Mallett were messages of congratulation from his son George Mallett of New Haven, Connecticut, from his three grand-children and five great grand-children, also in the east and countless friends. Assisting Mrs. Davis was Mr. Mallett's other son, D. E. Mallett of 1213 East California avenue, Glendale.

Those received at the Mallett home were Mrs. Sarah Moore and daughters and sons of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farrell of Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nankervis and two daughters and son of Los Angeles; Mrs. McCauley and son of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Mallett, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stevenson, and daughters Eula and Hilda; Mrs. and Mrs. C. E. Naregan and Dr. and Mrs. Willard Follansbee of Glendale.

Children Assist in Program Aiding Church

The Kiever Kiddies, a group of children from the Woods School of Dancing and Dramatic Art, pleased greatly with their performance at La Crescenta yesterday, when Mrs. Seymour Thomas opened her capacious garden on behalf of the church building fund. Ruth Bender, in a chic costume of cool white, gave a sleigh dance. Charles Rives radiated a charming personality in her fairy dance. Rosina Brown, garbed as a cute little Japanese maiden in blue kimono with pink flowers in her hair, rendered a Japanese musical reading. Elizabeth Haviland gave a novel French dance. In which she voiced her delight in trying on a dainty hat Joseph Taylor as usual scored a big success with his quaint Chinese song and dance.

ICE VITAL NEED IN SAVING FOOD

Nutritive Values Are Lost
Rapidly During Hot
Summer Weather

According to the latest news from the African diamond fields, the United States has purchased more diamonds this year than ever before. Several reasons have been advanced to explain why this is true; but whether or not the condition has any real significance is a question.

What is of real importance is the fact that more ice is purchased per capita today than five years ago. This fact is worth more than a passing thought. The use of ice as a food preservative is one of the best precautions against many diseases caused by spoiled or contaminated food. Scientists explain that perishable foods deteriorate rapidly at temperatures higher than 50 degrees; and, while the usual indications of spoiling are not apparent, the food loses much of its nutritive value. Pure, wholesome food for the growing children of today means strong, healthy, capable men and women of tomorrow.

Moreover, the fact that nowadays nearly every family realizes the necessity of using ice the year round is more indicative of a greater general prosperity and better living conditions than the fact that a few millionaires have purchased diamonds. And while the owners of African diamond fields are to be congratulated on a bumper year, the various civic organizations, ice producers' leagues, and housewives' leagues, which help to educate the public to use ice, are to be congratulated still more.

Interpreters Aid to Tourists in France

PARIS, June 29.—"Where do we go from here? Where do we eat and where do we drink?" All these questions and one hundred and one others that are asked by the tourists in Paris will be answered by the polyglot interpreters of the Transportation Company who are now stationed at five of the principal centers where busses pass.

These are the most congested districts where the large majority of foreigners are likely to collect — the Etoile, the Madeleine Church, the Opera, the Gare du Nord and the Palais Royal.

The interpreters were originally intended to help tourists find their way around Paris in the quickest and simplest manner, but they have developed into general information bureaus, according to one of the interpreters.

"We started out by giving directions and means of locomotion," he says, "but our jobs have become much more complicated with the arrival of hosts of American tourists. Beaucoup de travail! Easter day was a record breaker. I gave out 187 different kinds of information. One man wanted to know which way was north, another was looking for a good bar, still another a money changer, a barber, and many were looking for Montmartre."

English is probably the language the most needed, but all the men have at least two other tongues at their command.

The orders are to be polite at all costs and as helpful as possible, even if it takes a little patience. Tips are sometimes given but not expected.

GYPSUM DEPOSITS

Australia has extensive deposits of gypsum in a flour form and recent experiments have shown it is a valuable fertilizer in its natural state, especially for wheat grown on moist soils.

Nearly $3,000,000 worth of agricultural implements are exported from the United States and Canada each month.

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

Take a Little Salts If Your Back Hurts, or Bladder
Is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

City Council Adopts New Budget; Figures Display Program For Coming Year

THE municipal budget for the fiscal year commencing Sunday, as previously published, was officially adopted last night by the City Council. The resolution taking this action was as follows: "Resolved, that the general budget and the public service department budget submitted to this Council by the city manager, on which a public hearing has been held, are hereby revised and corrected as shown by the items and amounts now appearing thereon and that as so revised and corrected said budgets are hereby adopted and funds are hereby approved to the amounts and for the purposes set forth in said budgets." The "corrections" referred to include the addition of $3600 for the support of Community Service and the increase of the advertising and promotion appropriation from $3000 to $5500. The budget figures:

Insects With Grafted Heads Live Six Weeks

LONDON, June 29.—People who don't like their own heads may be able to get new ones if help comes from the laboratory. The bodies of the beetles, conducted by London scientists with beetles ever are proved adaptable to human beings.

At a scientific exhibition held here recently beetles were exhibited which had had other beetles' heads transplanted onto them. Some of the beetles had lived six weeks after the transplanting and had lived and fed normally. The bodies of the beetles, according to Graham Cannon, noted scientist, gradually conformed, after being given new heads, to the species and even the sex of the decapitated beetle.

Another interesting exhibit was that of artificial throats, made by Sir Richard Paget, which were able to make vowel sounds and even to speak. Considerable interest also was manifested in the contents of the stomach of a man-eating shark. A number of human bones eleven gold bracelets and several bead necklaces were found inside this monster.

GAS BURNERS

Because the mantles of a new twin incandescent gas burner are close enough to the pipe to heat it a considerable increase in the light without a great increase in gas consumption results.

Of Brilliant Start of Social Activity

The dance held last night in the ball room of the attractive Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, under the auspices of Community Service, proved to be one of the largest and most enjoyable informal social affairs given by the local organization. This was the first social event given for both the young men and women of the community by the organization and is only the beginning of the many social activities to be arranged for.

Patronesses for the affair were Mesdames C. E. Hutchinson, C. C. Cooper, A. R. Eastman and Charles B. Guthrie. A reception committee, of which Miss Grace Crampton was chairman, greeted the guests. She was assisted by Miss Dorothy Morton, Miss Olive-Bell Emery, George Hastings, George Lewellyn and George B. Peddicord. Music for the dancing was furnished by the Red Crown Jazz orchestra and the grand march was led by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Case, Jr.

Punch was served during the evening by Miss Ruth Spafford, assisted by Miss Nora Dowdle and Miss Ruth Frost. Miss Ruth Ryan, chairman of the refreshment committee, was assisted by Mrs. I. L. Bullock and Miss Mildred Mentzer.

Plans Outlined
During intermission, Mrs. W. Q. Widdows led in the community singing and V. M. Hollister and Mrs. J. R. Case, Jr., gave talks relative to the plans to be inaugurated by the organization.

A general arrangement committee for the affair consisted of Mrs. J. R. Case, Jr., Miss Myrtle Helmer, R. E. Tucker, J. A. Meyers and V. M. Hollister.

Instead of charging admission to this affair, a general offering was taken during intermission. The members of the Community Service organization wish to thank, at this time, all those who helped to make this affair a success and particularly the members of the Tuesday Afternoon club who so kindly donated the use of their beautiful clubhouse ball room.

PORTRAIT ARTIST WILL GIVE TALK

William J. McCloskey to Deliver Address Before
Art Association

"How to live happily on $2 a week" may quite possibly be the theme of William J. McCloskey, well known portrait painter, who will deliver an address at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, July 1, in the Public Library on East Harvard street, under the auspices of the Glendale Art Association.

Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president of the association, who announces that Mr. McCloskey will talk here Sunday afternoon, states there will be an exhibit of his work at the library at that time.

Mr. McCloskey also has an exhibit hung at the Curtis galleries on Figueroa street, Los Angeles, together with a large display at his studio in the Little Theatre building.

Among the prominent personages of Southern California, he has painted are George Wharton James, Homer Grun, Harris Newmark, and R. D. McLean, the great Shakespearean scholar and actor.

Mr. McCloskey has made a specialty of doing the portraits of noted actors. He is in addition the official portrait painter of the Hollywood post, American Legion.

Likeness of Two
This noted artist holds an interesting concept of his work. "The portrait of any individual is always the likeness of two people, he says, 'he who paints and he who is painted. Unless a painter's soul can see and mingle with the soul of the subject, there will be no real portraiture.'"

Mr. McCloskey, who though 65 years of age claims the health and vitality of twenty, attributes his remarkable physical condition to right living, eating very lightly of raw fruits and vegetables and eschewing meats.

"I do not believe half the people of the world today really know what living means," exclaims this vigorous young man of over three score.

Sunday afternoon's lecture is open to the public, Mrs. Ballagh states, and it is hoped a large number will avail themselves of the opportunity to meet William J. McCloskey.

Many well-known scientists are being taken on the voyage, which is being undertaken on the steam yacht George. Nearly 21,000 miles will be covered. A seaplane, with a qualified pilot, also will be carried.

Romance Near Wreck On Old Love Missive

CHICAGO, June 29.—The shadow of a lover of fifty-three years ago, now dead, lies across the half-century of marital happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Walton here, when the husband, in helping with the spring housecleaning, discovered a note written to Mrs. Walton in 1868 by John Wales.

Asa hastened with the note to the court of domestic relations. "Judge," he said, stroking his long, snow-white beard, "I've always loved Minnie and always will. I am willing to support her, but since finding that letter from John Wales asking her to meet him Thursday afternoon, I—"

"That letter was written fifty-five years ago, your honor," Minnie broke in to explain. "John used to go with me before Asa and I got married. He used to write me notes, and I forgot to burn this one."

"But she kept that letter in her trunk all these fifty-five years. Judge," Asa interposed, "and she said that John was one of the handsomest men she ever knew." "I was only teasing him, your honor," Minnie hastened to explain. "I haven't seen John for fifty-five years."

"Case dismissed," the court ruled. "You two children run along home."

Hand-in-hand the aged couple started for the door, and Minnie snuggled close to her husband as she did fifty years ago, when she preferred him to "handsome John Wales."

Man's conscience should be trained to revolt.

Heart and Home

Fence-post Charity

"You're a dratted old idjit, Abe Zimmer!" enough, Lem, like enough. But all the same I ain't taking charity from anyone, even you. I've got enough to get along on, and I ask nothing from anyone."

The two old men glared at each other, Lem with a great show of anger, and the other with as much of defiance as his timid soul could summon.

"Listen," Lem turned to entreaty. "We went to school together, didn't we? When you were well off you would have loaned me anything I wanted. I'd a done the same by you. Now, just because I happen to live in a larger place than you and have saved a few more dollars than you have, you are just ornery enough to keep me from spending a little on you. It is downright stubborn, mule-headed cussedness."

Abe grinned shyly and held up a hand as if to ward off the words. "It isn't as if I don't appreciate it. I had a good time while the money lasted and I saved enough to keep me if I live close to the line. I always said I would take charity from nobody and I mean it."

"I'd rather steal, almost," Abe said. "Everyone in town knew the two inseparables. In a little shack backed by a vegetable garden Abe lived on the slender income which was his. Next door, in a better-kept and larger home, lived Lem. He made, with the money he had enough to supply his needs. On three nights a week the two played checkers in the smaller house; on three nights they played cards in the larger."

"He'd just as soon steal, would he?" Lem put it to himself. "Well, I wish he would. The old duffer likes chow-chow and cigars and magazines, and a lot of truck. He's liked them all his life, but what does he do? Smokes rotten hay in a pipe and eats like a man in jail."

"Do you know, Abe," Lem put the question over the cards, "that there is a lot of fearful depravity in the world?"

"Think I've been cheatin', do you?" Abe took the challenge and laid down his hand.

"Nope. What I mean is this: A lot of things, some, constantly disappearing. Somebody takes them. I've been figuring it out. There aren't so many people in this town, but from the number of articles which are picked up and carried home there must be some who have queer ideas of property rights."

"Been reading police reports?" "Some, but more than that. I've been trying out a little scheme of my own. When the nozzle of my garden hose went I tried an experiment. I left a sickle in the yard and that walked off. Then I took to setting things on the top of the fence at the corner of the lot. Little things I didn't want, and they all went. It has become a sort of hobby with me, now, putting things there and seeing if they will be gone in the morning. Most of the time they're gone; stuff to eat, and the like."

"Then this depravity you talk about is your own fault. You are encouraging crime."

"Maybe, but I'm old enough to indulge in a little experimenting. Anybody who is wanting anything and is willing to take it, must want it bad. Besides, I like to buy a lot of things I have no use for—that's what money's meant for."

"You say," Abe spoke slowly, "you've been doing this for some time?"

"Yep. Every night after we quit our game I stick something on the fence."

That night Lem put a bottle of meat sauce on the fence. Again, it was no more than a cigar or a can of tobacco. Often he called Abe over to bear witness to the fact they were gone. The two shook their heads solemnly over the depravity of their fellows.

In the night sometimes Lem sits at the window and chuckles. "I wonder if the old duffer is idgit enough to think I don't know he's taking the stuff."

Abe, in the other house, smokes a cigar which came by the fence-post route and grins. "He's getting a lot of fun with his old experiment, and it's a good sight better I got it than someone else. There's no telling how many people I'm keeping out of temptation."

When the idea comes that this is all a trick of Lem's to help him out, Abe shuts his mind with the observation: "Anyhow, I ain't like accepting charity and saying, 'Thank you, sir, to an old pal.'"

Almost every kitchen garden has its row of peas. And lucky is the housewife who has enough peas to can as well as to serve on the table. Peas are a little more difficult to can than the other vegetables, but success can be gained by following these directions carefully:

To Can Peas—Use only fresh, young peas. Gather them in the early morning if possible and can them at once. At least, do not let them stand long after shelling. Sort them over, putting peas of the same size together. Be sure not to use hard, ripe peas among very tender ones. This is important, because the very young, tender peas need scarcely more than two minutes of blanching, whereas the very old ones may need 20 minutes of blanching.

For ordinary, tender peas, however, blanch from three to eight minutes—three minutes for the small ones and eight minutes for the larger. This blanching water should contain one teaspoon of baking soda to every gallon. "Cold-dip" the peas in water containing one tablespoon of salt to every gallon, let them remain in this salty water from 20 to 30 seconds. Drain and pack in sterilized glass jars.

Do not pack your jars too full of the peas, as that may cause them to burst during the processing, thus making a cloudy liquor. Put one and one-half level teaspoons of salt and sugar (mixed) into each quart-size jar. Cover the peas in the jar with boiling water to within one-fourth inch of top, place a new rubber on the jar-rim and adjust glass cover.

Processing—The intermittent method of processing has been found safer for peas (as well as for asparagus, beans and corn) than the One-Period Method. By the intermittent method the jar of peas is boiled in the canner for one hour on each of three successive days. During each of these three periods of boiling the top wire is up over the glass cap, but the side wire is not pressed down; at the end of the boiling period the jar is completely sealed, that is, the wire is pressed down and the jar is taken from the wash-boiler canner and allowed to stand overnight in ordinary room temperature.

In the morning the side wire is raised so that the jar can be boiled, or "processed," exactly as it was before. After the third processing, the side wire is pressed down permanently, the jar is inverted to cool and test for leaks, then labeled and stored. It will pay the housekeeper to go to this trouble of processing the jar on three successive days, for by so doing she will not lose a jar through spoilage.

A DIVERSIFIED GINGHAM
In the modes for the new season the gingham appears in charming and diversified ways. An original effect is gained by manipulating the checks of this brown and green frock, the shaped sides being cut on the bias, then emphasized with a binding of plain green chambray. Collar and vestee are of white organdy. If preferred, the sleeves may be lengthened and allowed to flare below the elbows. Medium size requires four and three-quarters yards thirty-six-inch gingham and one-half yard organdy.

Diet and Health

I, I, I, MYSELF; I, THE CONFESSIONS OF A BABY

CHAPTER LXV. MY TEETH

Dear Mamas: Today I want to tell you a little more about my baby teeth, which I expect to have a full set of (20) by the time I am about 2½ years old. Our baby teeth (deciduous) are just like our permanent teeth, only a little softer—especially the roots, which have to be partly absorbed when our permanent teeth push them out so that they can have a place in the jaw.

All teeth have three parts—the crown, the part that is above the gum; the root, the part which holds the teeth in place underneath the gum; and the neck, the part where the crown and the root meet. The crown is covered with the enamel, which is a hard, white, brittle substance and, under the microscope, shows that it is made of little six-sided prisms. We must be careful when we bite any hard substance, and we must never crack nuts with our teeth, because we may break some of these little prisms and this will lead to this trouble of processing the jar on three successive days, for by so doing she will not lose a jar through spoilage.

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

ATTRACTIVE ARMS

To be attractive, the arms must be beautiful in contour, firm and with clear skin. The test really is the upper arm, which is so apt to be too fat or too thin, and the elbow, which so often looks uncared for.

If you yourself are overweight or underweight, you must try to become normally fleshy again. This takes time, of course, so, in the meanwhile, by way of improvement, you can massage and exercise the arms to make them pretty. If you are 50 pounds overweight, no amount of arm exercises will take away the "leg of mutton" shape at the shoulders; if you are below weight, exercise can't put flesh on the bones above the elbow. But you can vary ten to twenty pounds either way, and, by exercise, still achieve beautiful arms.

Rowing, swimming, tennis and golf are the best of the outdoor sports for this. If none of these are available, join a gymnasium if you can, or stand at your mirror and do exercises by yourself. Any sort that tense the muscles are good, especially if combined with deep breathing.

To improve the skin nothing is better than starch paste. This can be either the cold water paste made with laundry starch, spread on and allowed to stay half an hour or so, or else the cooked starch used the same way. The cold water kind I think a little better.

Before washing the arms, rub them with olive oil or cleansing cream, scrub this out with soap and water. Use oatmeal soap, which is bleaching, and rub vanishing cream into the elbows if they are rough or dark. Such little treatments will do wonders for your arms.

V. Discouraged—There is nothing unusual about your case, as most women are more developed on one side than the other. Dress so the difference is not noticeable.

J. C. W.—You are merely temporarily depleted from the tonsillitis, and a few weeks of pleasant make any constant effort to control. If there were any way that the men who have this habit could have brought before their eyes some reckoning of the happiness they destroy, I think most of them would be absolutely appalled.

I believe there are many larger sins—larger as the world reckons the size of sins, for I wouldn't be a bit surprised if the reckoning in the Big Ledger is very different from earth's reckoning—that do not cause half so much unhappiness as this uncontrolled habit of irritability.

Wont Let Them Be Happy

Many a man who is generous to his family in a material way is unbelievably selfish to them in this matter of refusing to let them be happy when he is around. And then wonders why, after all he has done for them, his wife and children do not seem to love him as they love each other.

I see, as I read this over, that I have imputed the sin of irritability to the male partner of the marriage. My typewriter did that for me, but I think it knew what it was about. I shall doubtless be asked: "Do women never spoil the happiness of married life by irritability?" I'll answer now. Sometimes, but nowhere near so often as men. And tomorrow I will say something about the woman's position in this matter of irritability.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE ARITHMETIC OF LIFE

"It has been well said that the difference between a man's habitual rudeness and habitual politeness is probably as great a difference as he will ever be able to make in the sum of human happiness. And the arithmetic of life consists in adding to or subtracting from the pleasurable moments of mortality."

I don't suppose a day goes by but what some writer tells us what is the greatest cause of unhappiness in married life. I believe I have triumphantly uncovered the Greatest Cause more than once and I probably shall again.

So do not try to trip me up by to be pulled out, the poor little second teeth may lose their way and come out some place where they may not look nice—perhaps on the side of the jaw, or sometimes even in the palate. Another thing that happens, if we lose a first tooth before we should, is the shrinking of the jaw and the partial closing of the place where the tooth was. Then when the permanent teeth come, they try to come in in this space that is too small; and, because they cannot, one or more are crowded out of line and become crooked.

So you can see the importance of keeping the baby teeth until they loosen naturally or are pushed out by our permanent ones, can't you, Mamas? Once in a while it happens that a baby tooth does not seem to want to leave us when it should, and the second tooth that should come in its place will come above it. In that case, of course, the baby tooth must be ousted.

You see from what I have told you, Mamas, that it is important for us to be taken to the dentist quite often to be sure that our teeth are behaving properly. Every three months is not any too often. The way the dentist can watch their growth, and if there are any tiny cavities formed, he can fill them without hurting us; or if our first teeth are outstaying their welcome, they can be pulled.

Of course, we have to keep our teeth clean and learn to brush

LAUNCH MOVE TO BEAUTIFY DEPOT

Civics Affairs Committee of Rotary Club Looking Into Situation

Something will be done to make Burbank's railroad frontage more pleasing to the eye, it Dr. J. N.
 Van Meter, city health officer, can bring about such a consummation.

As chairman of the Rotary club's civics affairs committee, Dr.
 Van Meter has made a study of the situation. "Under present conditions," he says, "people entering our city by train do not get at all the correct idea of its beauty. There is no reason why this cannot be changed. A depot can be made as beautiful as any other structure, and a railroad frontage can be an asset to a city rather than a detriment." The civics affairs committee of the Rotary club was created at the suggestion that the club join in a federation of clubs in Burbank.

Dr. Van Meter specifically states that it is not the mission of the Rotary club to usurp in any way the duties of the Chamber of Commerce, but that it behooves all good Rotarians to support "in spirit, in service and in finances"
 the chamber.

According to Dr. Van Meter, one of the prime purposes of Rotary is to fit its members to serve better as individuals in improving the civic and social conditions of the community. At this point he brought out that such a step as improvement of the railroad frontage would be accomplished, if at all, by the members as individuals.
 In conjunction with members of other local clubs and bodies, this being, he claimed, one of the signal values of a federation of clubs.

 Christian church of Los Angeles

 cellent and the treat was much enjoyed.

Help Zone Problems
 City Clerk Webster is in receipt of a communication from Secretary Hugh R. Pomeroy, of the Los Angeles Regional Planning Commission, offering to co-operate in any way possible with Burbank in working out its zoning problems.

The final concert of the Burbank Choral club season, given in the auditorium of the Thomas Edson school Tuesday night, June 26, was much enjoyed by a large audience. There were ten high-class numbers on the program, six choral and four solo.

A petition was recently filed with City Clerk Webster for the annexation to Burbank of a tract of land lying south of the Magnolia avenue, adjoining the southwestern part of the city limits, the petition being signed by five property owners in that vicinity.

Mrs. Charles Fischer entertained the members of the Altar society and their friends yesterday afternoon at her home, 301 Angelino avenue. Cards were played and refreshments served.

Move Into New Shop
 H. D. and C. H. Ling, painting contractors, with temporary quarters at 714 Walnut avenue, will shortly take possession of a modern paint shop being erected for them by H. C. Comber on First street, next to the building now occupied by DeMoss & Hollomon, which is also owned by Mr. Comber.

The new structure will be fifty by fifty feet, built of corrugated iron, with two varnish rooms, twenty by twenty feet, built in,
 these latter to be used for the finishing of automobiles.

The new up-ton office of the Western Union Telegraph company, in the Ramsey building, will be a most up-to-date and completely equipped office, according to A. L. Johnson, from the company's equipment office, who has been in this city to let the contract for the remodeling and painting.

The windows will be changed and finishings will be in oak, with an oak counter. B. C. Prescott, telegrapher and local manager,
 who has worked in numerous Western Union offices, says that he will be particularly proud to take charge of this office.

Forest Fires May Cause Smoking Ban

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—
 More than 100 city employees working at Camp Rindford, Bear valley, and several passing motorists were commandeered early yesterday to combat a furious forest fire which raged for hours in the upper control of the Santa Ana river, destroying 500 acres of commercial land. Another fire in the Angeles reserve has destroyed 100 acres of watershed on the north fork of the San Gabriel.
 Both were started by cigarettes,
 it was determined, which caused Supervisor Charlton to consider banning all smoking in forests.

Rancher Killed When Car and Auto Crash

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—A collision between an automobile and a San Bernardino train on the Pacific Electric railway resulted in the fatal injury today of D. L.
 Kingsley, prominent Covina
 rancher. He died within two hours. The accident occurred a few hundred feet from Kingsley's Covina residence.

TODAY—To Study German "Mummies"; Bodies Preserved by Nature; Some Curious German Legends.

BERLIN, June 29.—Aroused by discoveries in the tomb of Tutankhamen, Berlin antiquarians, joining in the renewed world-wide search for relics of the past, are calling for investigation into the why and wherefore of the celebrated "mummy tombs" of the Mark Brandenburg.

At various spots in the territory surrounding Berlin lie the perfectly preserved bodies of persons who have been dead for 300 years or more. Unprotected by caskets or Egyptian essences, the corpses lie in their funeral finery, preserved by some natural agency, the exact nature of which has never been ascertained.

At Messemburg is the Countess Wartensleben, who died in the seventeenth century. Her silks, satins and laces are undisturbed; anyone who wants to see how an elegant German provincial lady dressed in the days when Queen Elizabeth set the English fashions need only get the Messemburg sexton to open up the tomb. Twenty wars have rushed over the countess, but she lies peacefully.

Less fortunate is the Baron von Poellnitz, who was buried almost 300 years ago at Buch, near Potsdam. The baron has a broken nose as a result of the village legends charge, French soldiers' horseplay. According to traditions cited by the oldest inhabitant, French soldiers quartered in the village after the battle of Jena amused themselves by taking the corpse up into the church and placing it in various poses. In the course of their antics the body fell, breaking the nose. The Countess Voss, Countess Ingenheim, the mistress of Friedrich Wilhelm II, is also buried at Buch, but she forbade her executors to bury her in the "mummy cave."

Even worse off than Baron von Poellnitz is the unfortunate body called merely "Kahlbutz," which lies at Ramepehl. French soldiers billeted in town during the Napoleonic wars attempted, the legends say, to nail the body to the cross in the altar of the church. But "Kahlbutz" was revengeful on the spot, for in the process of getting the body into position an arm dropped off, striking one of the jokers a sharp blow in the face. The man dropped dead of fright and the proceedings stopped then and there.

Another time a couple of sportive German cavaliers headed the corpse out of the cave with the object of setting it on the doorstep of the haughty village coquette as a possible "lover." They were caught in the act and since then "Kahlbutz" has been under lock and key.

In life "Kahlbutz" is supposed to have been a nobleman who killed a shepherd, and, swearing on his life and soul that he was innocent of the crime, dropped dead.

BILLY WHISKERS

Stubby was right it was a cock fight.
"You have hit it, Stubby!" cried Button. "Look over your head and you will see a piece of canvas stretched across the entrance on which is painted a cock fight. Come, let's go in and see how they manage them."

"Go ahead and I'll follow. I always have had a curiosity to see a cock fight. I have heard so much about them. You sneak in at someone's heels and the gatekeeper will think you belong to them, while I will climb up this tree and jump to the roof of that low shed and from there climb up into the second story, where those people are. When you are ready to go run outside and bark three times and I will join you." This plan worked perfectly, and presently the dog and cat were as much excited in watching the fight as were the human spectators.

That is what they saw:
A pit with an earthen floor, around which were tiers of seats. On these seats were people of all nationalities, ages and color from the black negro and yellow Chinaman to the blonde Swede and Anglo-Saxon. Everyone had their eyes fastened on a bunch of feathers, claws and bills that were hopping and jumping around the ring so fast one could not distinguish one game cock from the other. It was especially difficult to distinguish them as the feathers of the birds were the same color and they really might have been twins so well matched were they as to height and weight.

At one side sat the judges and owners, and the attendants were darkies who would sponge off the cocks and rub their feathers the right way, just as there are men to look after the principals in a prize fight.

Button and Stubby had gotten in just at the close of one fight, and as there were to be several, they decided to stay and see one through from the beginning to the finish, especially as they saw by the board there was to be another between two celebrated favorites.

They waited about fifteen minutes for it to begin, as between fights the audience bets on which bird will win, and puts up its money as in a horse race.

Presently a bell rang and all the people took their seats and waited for the cocks to be brought in.

(Tomorrow you'll hear more of the cock fight.)

FIGHT FINANCES
ALL TANGLED UP

Jack Kearns Is Striving to Get Hold of That Very Elusive $100,000

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 29.—Dawn came to Montana today and found the Dempsey-Gibbons affair still a tangled, snarled mass of finances, or rather the lack of them.

All through the night confabs were held here and there and everywhere—in bank offices, in lawyers' offices, in hotel rooms. And all came to naught as far as forcing Jack Kearns to make a compromise or in the raising of those 100,000 elusive cash dollars.

Perhaps this day may bring a solution of the mightiest problem which ever confronted this section of Montana—and just as likely it may bring nothing but talk, more talk, reports, rumors, more reports and rumors and bitter disappointment with night-fall.

Mild hope is entertained that L. C. Stevenson may become savior of the situation. During the night it was noised around that he might step right into the picture with $100,000. But he didn't make such a statement. And there are many who believe that perhaps he, or some one connected with his oil interests spread the report merely to garner a bit of publicity for Stevenson.

May Shift Date
Maybe Stevenson is sincere—he may deliver during the day. But it is becoming increasingly apparent around here that parting an oil man from his money for uses by prize fight promoters is a rather difficult feat.

There continues the likelihood that the fight date may be shifted to July 14 or July 21. That's more or less up to Eddie Kane, manager of Tom Gibbons. During the night Loy Molunby, and two Great Falls men hot-footed it in to the boudoir of Jack Kearns to try to find out what he thought of things in general.

And they discovered these twin facts:

First—Kearns thinks he wants that $100,000.

Second—Kearns is willing to postpone the fight for two weeks or so.

"I'll agree to a shift in the date," said the manager of Dempsey.

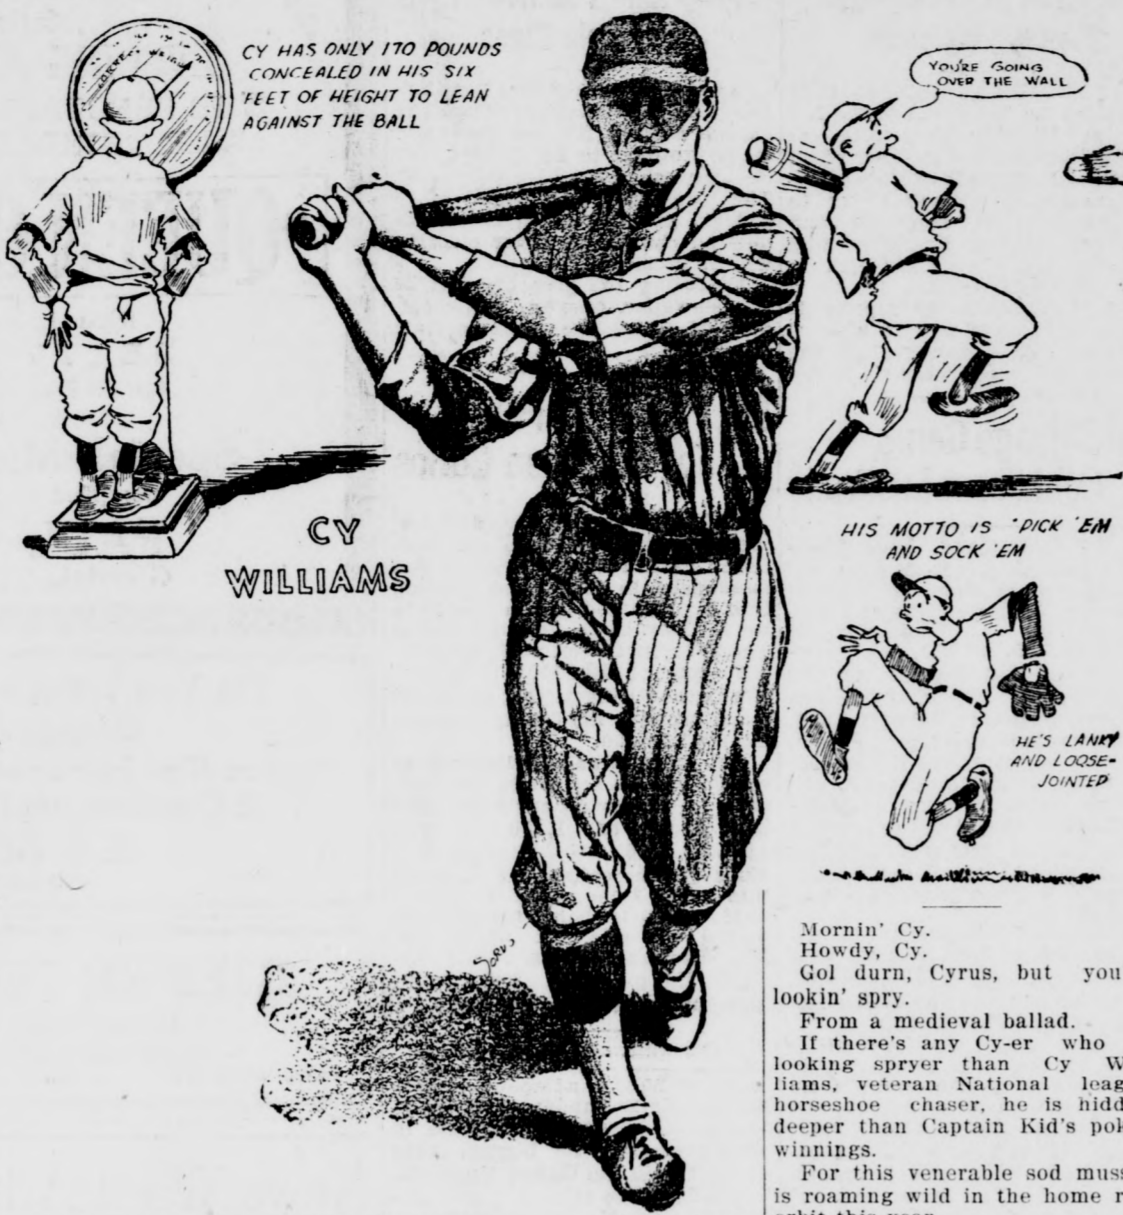

"If you move the fight along to the fourteenth or the seventeenth, that will give you fellows a chance to launch a new campaign in the sale of tickets."

Wants That Coin
"But before I'd agree to it I'd want the $100,000 secured for Dempsey. However, I haven't the sole say in the shift. Kane must agree also. If you don't put the fight on July 4 the contract is automatically broken. A new one must be made. You'd have to make a new deal with the Gibbons people. Maybe you could make a better one than you've got; maybe not. I don't know. That's up to you."

"But as far as this $100,000 third payment to Dempsey is concerned—well, it's due July 2nd. I can't make any definite move until that date. If you men deliver the money I may agree to any plan you may name. If you don't, well, you bust the contract. When you bust it I'll tell you about one second later exactly what I am going to do."

WILLIAMS GETS HOMER
ST. LOUIS, June 29.—Ken Williams, slugging Browns' outfielder, yesterday knocked out his eleventh homer of the season. The homer was made in the last half of the fourth. Williams is three home runs behind Babe Ruth for American league honors.

Gol darn, Cyrus, but you're lookin' spry.

From a medieval ballad.

If there's any Cy-er who is looking spry than Cy Williams, veteran National league horsehoe chaser, he is hidden deeper than Captain Kid's poker winnings.

For this venerable sod musser is roaming wild in the home run orbit this year.

Cy, personally, isn't all het up about his home run slugging. "Just getting started," is Cy's idea. Cy always was easy going.

The lanky, loose-jointed, willow-wielder had been playing big league baseball seven years before he broke into the .300 class in hitting. Then, being ready to hit he got busy. His average was .278 in 1919. The next year he ran it up to .325 and left his friends and the scorers dizzy. And to show that he had really made up his mind to bat that high each year he registered a .320 average the next season and last year turned in a .308 average.

Having found his batting eye he decided to specialize on homers. He promptly gave Rogers Hornsby a battle for the circuit clouting honors and finished second with 26 homers.

Having found his home run eye he now plans to lead in that division. No hurry, though. He took eleven years to become a home run hitter. There's lots of time to set records now that he can sock 'em.

Williams may fall short of Ruth's record of 59, but he can exceed it if he keeps his present pace. He has already given Ruth, maker of home run records, a mark to shoot at—13 home runs in 22 playing days. Look that record over.

Cyrus the Clouter stands out as living proof that a ball player isn't necessarily doomed if he lands in Philadelphia. Cy was only a fair hitter and player when the Cubs, after using him six years, traded him to the Phils for Dode Paskert in 1917. Maybe Cy is trying to slug his way out of the town. Whatever the incentive, he is certainly keeping a lot of Philadelphia from the chief amusement of the Quaker City. They lay awake days figuring his averages instead of sleeping.

California Net Star Eliminates Richards

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 29.—William Johnston, California tennis wizard, fought his way to a commanding position for the singles championship of the world when he eliminated Vincent Richards, Yonkers, N. Y., youthful phenomenon. In the fourth round of the Wimbledon tournament today. The score was 6-4, 6-3, 7-5.

Johnston now goes into the round before the semi-final and takes a place with the eight survivors in the men's singles championships.

The Californian, by his victory today, maintained his record of defeating Richards every time he has met.

TAGGING ALL BASES

If the Athletics could have played the Yanks without the latter having the services of Wally Pipp the Mackmen might have won. Pipp drove in one run in the sixth and hit a homer in the eighth. The Yank victory gave him a lead of six games. Score 4 to 2.

Ken Williams got his eleventh home run and Shocker pitched his eleventh victory of the season when the Browns walloped the Tigers 6 to 2.

SCORNS INJURY
TO WIN VICTORY

Stroke of Washington Crew
Rows With Infected
Knee in Race

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 29.—Dow Walling, 21 year old hero of Washington's victorious eight, winner of the annual intercollegiate regatta, was today suffering intense pain from the infected knee which, for three days pending the event, threatened to keep him in the hospital instead of at the stroke seat of the "Huskies" shell.

Walling had to be lifted from the Washington boat at the finish of the race last evening when the western crew came in ahead of Navy, leading Columbia, Syracuse, Cornell and Pennsylvania in the order named.

The Washington crew was the "toast of the town" today. While considered a dangerous rival to formidable eastern eights, the invaders—particularly with Walling injured—were not expected to capture such a clean cut victory.

Race In Downpour
While the time of 19:03 1-5 for the 3-mile row, was not a record breaker, when Navy's last year's time of 13:33 3-5 is considered, the speed of the westerners, under existing weather and water conditions, showed their power. The first mile of the race was run in a light rain, the last two miles in a downpour.

Washington's victory is the first ever taken by the west in the 28 years of the intercollegiate regatta's history.

In the freshman two-mile race, one of the most thrilling in a Poughkeepsie regatta, Cornell defeated Washington by an eyelash, by one-fifth of a second. Syracuse finished third; Pennsylvania fourth; Columbia fifth. Syracuse won the two-mile junior varsity race by a length. Cornell was second, Columbia third, Pennsylvania fourth.

FEW FOLKS HAVE
GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays, we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.—Advertisement.

EAGLE ROCK

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH PLANNED

New Building to Be Erected On Site of Present One; Players May Build

Plans have been completed for the erection of the first units of the new Congregational church, it is reported by the building committee. The plans call for the moving of the present structure to the rear of the lot, facing on Linden way, and then raising it one story. When this change has been completed, the finished structure will be the permanent parish house. The new church will then be built upon the site at present occupied by the old one. When this main structure is completed, the auditorium will be joined with the parish house. The downstairs of the new parish house will accommodate the banquet hall, kitchen supply rooms and other adjuncts. It will temporarily be fitted out as the church quarters. The upstairs will be fitted out as a modern departmental Sunday school, of several rooms. When finished, the committee feels the structure will be an asset to the entire community. Certain of the Eagle Rock Community Players feel that it is time to begin considering the erection of a permanent home for their organization, so that their plays may be given under their own roof. This feeling is accentuated by the recent difficulty encountered in obtaining permission from the Los Angeles board of education to perform "All of a Sudden Peggy" in the auditorium of the Central school. In fact, permission has not yet been definitely granted, although Secretary Ethel H. Woodhouse has received a communication from William K. Sheldon, secretary of the board, stating that, under certain conditions, such permission would be accorded—for the balance of the year. But for the 1924 season it is felt that other and better arrangements will have to be made. Upon the return of President G. P. Willey from his vacation, it is planned to call a special meeting of the board of directors of the organization, to examine into the situation in full. The worth of the Eagle Rock Community Players has been so clearly established, residents feel, and the entertainment offered by them has been of such a uniformly high order, that it is only right that definite steps should be immediately taken to perpetuate the organization. The Chamber of Commerce has decided, owing to intervention of the holidays, to postpone the open forum meeting from July 8 to July 17, when residents of the entire section are invited to come and discuss civic matters. At Tuesday night's meeting of the board of directors, Godfrey Edwards was appointed chairman of the transportation committee, in the stead of P. C. Schumacher, who was unable to serve. C. E. Spencer was made chairman of the water, power and street lights committee. The following library committee was created: W. J. Cook, chairman, and H. H. Maxson, Dr. J. C. Shedd, Mrs. C. H. Young, and Mrs. H. G. Shearin.

COUNCIL GRANTS RAIL FRANCHISE

Union Pacific Permitted to Lay Passing Track on Glendale Avenue

The Union Pacific railroad, or its successor, was given permission to construct a passing track on Glendale avenue between Maple street and Windsor road last night by the City Council. The official ordinance granting the franchise for a period of twenty-five years, specifically stated: "Said passing track shall be used only as such, and not for the storage of cars or other rolling stock or equipment, and shall at all times be so used as to obstruct as little as possible the movement of vehicular traffic."

Will Free Okmulgee From Martial Law

OKMULGEE, Okla., June 29.—Martial law may be lifted here Saturday, according to announcement made yesterday by Adjutant General B. H. Markham, in charge of national guard troops sent here by Governor Walton to "stamp out mob rule."

Seeing no further need for troops after investigation of some cases of which no details were given, the adjutant-general said military authority would not, in his opinion, be necessary when some adjustments are made.

Will Salvage Gems, Gold From Lusitania

DOVER, England, June 29.—Count Zahardt Landi, famous salvage expert, is about to attempt the rescue of the bullion and jewelry lost on the Lusitania and valued at $15,000,000. Sunk off Old Kinsale, on the south coast of Ireland, by a German submarine on May 7, 1915, the Lusitania is now lying in about 250 feet of water, at a spot fifteen miles from Queenstown. "The coast is very rugged," says Count Landi, "and exposed to all the worst elements. This makes salvage operations all the harder, but we have great hopes of raising the gold."

"Accounts of the amount of bullion carried by the Lusitania vary from $5,750,000 to $25,000,000, but we understand the actual figure is about $15,000,000."

Count Landi, whose syndicate is known as the "Aye Ready," purchased the sloop "Buttercup" from the British admiralty and renamed her "Semper Paratus"—"Always Ready." Fitted with three separately built bows, and maintaining a speed of 17 knots, the vessel is the largest and fastest salvage steamer in the world. She has electric submarine

Big Prices Are Paid For Japanese Curios

TOKIO, June 29.—Some idea of the advance in prices of curios in Japan came recently when it was announced, in Tokio, that hanging scrolls purchased fifteen years ago by S. Hayakawa for 8,200 yen ($4,100) had been sold for 145,900 yen ($72,950). Thus Mr. Hayakawa's investment in scrolls alone profited his family approximately $64,000.

Mr. Hayakawa's collection of scrolls and curios made the high record price for all curio sets sold in Japan of 1,480,689 yen ($740,344.50), the highest previous price realized at a curio sale being 1,000,000 yen ($500,000), this price being for the celebrated collection of Baron Go. Mr. Hayakawa was, until his death, the president of the South Manchurian Railway company.

lamps of 2000 candlepower, pneumatic tools for under-water work, and a coil tow-rope 28 inches in circumference—the biggest rope ever made in the United Kingdom. Besides nine sets of diving apparatus, Landi has invented a deep water diving suit which he intends using on the Lusitania.
